MEXICO ELECTS ITS FIRST WOMAN PRESIDENT IN 200-YEAR HISTORY

Left-wing leader Claudia Sheinbaum pulls off a landslide victory in a country plagued by rampant criminal and gender-based violence

PROTEGE OF OUTGOING PRESIDENT OBRADOR

The climate scientist and former Mexico City mayor won 58.6% of the votes. She is a protégé of incumbent leader Lopez Obrador, an anti-establishment leftist who had also won a landslide victory in 2018. Sheinbaum was a contributing author of the UN's Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change that won the Nobel Peace Prize in 2007 | P12

AT LEAST 37 CANDIDATES MURDERED

- The elections were set against the backdrop of high levels of violence. At least 37 candidates were murdered during this election cycle
- Sheinbaum said her government will continue to rely on Obrador's policy of using the quasi-military National Guard to tackle the violence
- Her main rival Xochitl Galvez, also a woman, won 29% of the votes

TIME FOR PEOPLE'S PULSE

Both BJP and Oppn I.N.D.I.A bloc optimistic, chalk out strategies for today's counting

PREETHA NAIR AND RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @New Delhi

AFTER a gruelling 47-day electoral exercise, the country is set to get a new government when 64 crore votes for 543 Lok Sabha seats will be counted on Tuesday. The results will decide whether Prime Minister Narendra Modi will get a third consecutive term in power or the Opposition INDIA bloc will emerge as the winner.

Ahead of the counting day, the capital witnessed hectic parleys by the ruling Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) and the INDIA bloc to chalk out strategies for the counting day. While the mood in the BJP camp is upbeat with multiple exit polls predicting a stunning victory, the Opposition is also upping the ante terming the exit polls as 'fake and manufactured".

Top BJP leaders got into a huddle here to reportedly discuss government formation and the expected seat haul. The meeting held at the residence of the party's national president J P Nadda for hours purportedly centered around the representation of allies in the new cabinet, sharpening the governance agenda, and strategising the outreach to realise the vision of Viksit Bharat (developed nation) of Prime Minister Narendra Modi. It was held in the wake of the buzz on big-ticket reforms in the economic and defence sectors.

"The the party will celebrate the victory across the country as Vijyotsava for Viksit Bharat," a BJP source said. The saffron party also discussed ways to assert their dominance in the post-election scenario. Senior BJP leaders, including Union ministers Amit Shah and Rajnath Singh, participated.

Most of the exit polls predicted a comfortable victory for the NDA with 355 to 370 seats and between 125 and 140 seats for the Congress and its allies in INDIA. The exit polls also predicted significant gains for the NDA in Andhra Pradesh, Telangana and Karnataka.

However, the Opposition parties dismissed the exit poll as BJP's psychological game and asserted that the INDIA bloc would win 295 seats. On Monday, Congress leader Sonia Gandhi said the party is hopeful that the exit polls will be wrong. "We are very hopeful that our results are completely the opposite of what the exit polls are saying," she said.

The seven-phased Lok Sabha elections — the longest in Indian election history — has also seen many run-ins between the Opposition and the Election Commission of India.

DECODE LS POLLS '24 DECIDE

Cong, BJP, JDS netas keep fingers crossed

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @ Bengaluru

WITH the stage set for declaration of results of the Lok Sabha elections today, leaders of Congress, BJP and Janata Dal Secular (JDS) are keeping their fingers crossed.

While the ruling Congress went to the polls with its guarantees, BJP wooed voters with the achievements of the NDA government at the Centre under PM Modi. JDS aligned with the saffron party.

The results will reveal whether people of the state have voted differently when compared to last year's Assembly polls. They will also reveal whether women, who constitute nearly 50% of the electorate, were swayed by Congress' guarantees or Modi's 'charisma'.

For Congress, the stakes are high as its president Mallikarjun Kharge is from the state. Moreover, the ruling party has been at loggerheads with the BJP-led NDA government at the Centre on many issues. With Congress being the key player in I.N.D.I.A, it remains to be seen how many seats it will contribute to the bloc from Karnataka.

The Congress leadership in the state, however, is confident of winning 18-20 seats. But the exit poll prediction has dampened its spirits. DCM DK Shivakumar's prediction almost came true in the last Assembly polls. He is not sure how many LS seats his party will win in the state. He, however, predicted that Congress will win double-digit seats. Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Shivakumar rubbished Saturday's exit poll prediction. The last time the Congress secured double-digit seats in Karnataka was in 1999 LS polls when it won 18. P4

EXIT POLL IMPACT

Markets on steroids with highest single-day jump in three years

ARSHAD KHAN @New Delhi

BUOYED by exit poll predictions of a comfortable victory for Prime Minister Narendra Modi's BJP in the general elections, equity markets Nifty and Sensex went up by more than 3% on Monday, the highest single-day jump in three years.

The NSE Nifty 50 gained 733.20 points or 3.25% to settle at 23,263.90, while the BSE Sensex jumped 2,507.47 points or 3.39% to 76,468.70. During the intraday session, the Sensex peaked at 76,738.89 while the Nifty touched a fresh high of 23,338.70.

Investors raked in a whopping ₹14 crore in the bullish session as the market capitalisation of all listed companies on the BSE surged to ₹426 lakh crore from nearly ₹412 lakh crore in the previous closing session.

"The Indian stock market responded positively due to optimism about policy continuity," said Pranav Haridasan, MD and CEO at Axis Securities. He expects the market to remain bullish.

Foreign institutional investors (FIIs), who were on a selling spree in May, bought shares worth ₹6,850 crore (net) on Monday.

Santosh Meena, Head of Research at Swastika Investmart, said if the exit poll results are validated, there could be further gains, with Nifty possibly advancing towards 23,500 and Sensex approaching 77,000.

The volatility index, India VIX crashed 15% to come back to the level of 20.94. A fall in this index indicates stability in the near term. India VIX measures volatility in the Nifty 50 over the next 30 days.

Analysts also attributed Monday's rally to India's GDP exceeding estimates at 8.2% for FY24, easing fiscal deficit and rise in GST collections. If the actual tally for NDA falls short of exit poll data, there can be a sharp profit booking. P13

BRS leader K Kavitha leaves the Rouse Avenue Court on Monday | PTI

ED: Kavitha's proceeds of crime valued at ₹293 crore

UJWAL JALALI @ New Delhi

THE Enforcement Directorate (ED), in a supplementary chargesheet filed against Bharat Rashtra Samithi (BRS) leader K Kavitha in the alleged Delhi excise policy scam, said a total of ₹1,100 crore was laundered in the case and Kavitha was involved in proceeds of crime worth ₹292.8 crore.

"As per the investigation so far, the total proceeds of crime identified is ₹1,100 crore, out of which PoC of ₹292.8 crore is being dealt with in this Prosecution Complaint. Through activities of the accused persons i.e. Kavitha, Champreet Singh, Prince Kumar, Damodar Sharma and Arvind Singh, huge proceeds of crime have been generated," the supplementary chargesheet alleged.

As per the chargesheet, out of the ₹292.8 crore, ₹100 crore was paid as kickbacks to the Aam Aadmi Party leaders.

"Kavitha conspired with the members of the South Group and the AAP leaders through accused Vijay Nair (who was acting on behalf of top AAP leaders) to pay kickbacks to the tune of ₹100 crore and receive undue benefits," the chargesheet claimed.

Earlier in the day, special judge Kaveri Baweja extended Kavitha's judicial custody till July 3. The 46-year-old BRS leader is in judicial custody in the two cases lodged by the ED and the CBI in the alleged scam. The court had issued the warrants after taking cognisance of a chargesheet against the BRS leader in the case on May 29.

CEC seeks proof as Oppn alleges BJP attempt to influence counting

MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi

THE Chief Election Commissioner (CEC) Rajiv Kumar on Monday reacted sharply to Congress leader Jairam Ramesh's claims that the BJP tried to influence 150 district magistrates and collectors ahead of the vote counting on June 4, asking him to submit proof to back his claim by 7 pm on Monday. Ramesh alleged that Union home minister Amit Shah had called up 150 district magistrates after polling was over to influence the officials.

"You cannot spread a rumour and bring everyone under a cloud of suspicion," Kumar said. "Those leveling allegations should say which DM was influenced and we will punish them. They should tell us before the counting process begins," he added.

Ramesh sought seven days to submit his reply, saying, "We cannot put serving officers in jeopardy by putting a target on their backs". But the poll panel did not budge, and directed him to submt his response by 7 pm, failing which it would take action. The CEC said given that the district magistrates are also returning officers of their respective districts, such allegations have a direct bearing on the sanctity of the vote counting process.

Kumar admitted that the poll panel had failed to counter mischievous narratives. "We were prepared to deal with money power, muscle power, misinformation and model code violations. But we failed to anticipate mischievous narratives. It is learning for us," he said.

THE revised highway toll rates came into effect on Sunday midnight and motorists now have to shell out around 5% more. But for some highways where toll rates will be revised by September, the hike applies to others, including the Bengaluru-Mysuru access-controlled highway, in Karnataka.

For instance, if the toll fee was Rs 100, it will be Rs 105 or more from now on. Sources in the National Highways Authority of India (NHAI) said the toll revision, which comes into effect from April 1 every year, was put on hold because of the Model Code of Conduct for Lok Sabha elections. P5

MASSIVE 111.1 MM

B'luru beats 133-yr record for one-day rain in June

MOHAMMED YACOOB @ Bengaluru

SUNDAY'S 111.1 mm rain is the highest for Bengaluru in 133 years for a single day in June. It also surpassed the average rainfall for the month, which is 110.3 mm.

According to officials of the India Meteorological Department (IMD), the previous record for a single day was 101.6 mm on June 16, 1891.

The officials predicted that Bengaluru and other parts of the state are likely to receive heavy rain in the coming days. The department recently forecast a good monsoon this year.

The officials said the weather station at HAL Airport recorded 47.7 mm rain on Sunday. Bengaluru Urban district, excluding BBMP's limits, received 109.5 mm. Areas such as Electronics City recorded 38.5 mm and Sompura in Bengaluru Urban district received 30.5 mm rain on Sunday.

Experts attributed this to the impact of La Nina. The impact of El Nino, which resulted in a harsh summer, has reduced, they said.

The IMD officials said monsoon has already covered most parts of southern Karnataka, including Bengaluru. "Weather in Bengaluru will be generally cloudy with good spells of rain in the next three days. The city is expected to receive moderate rain with thunderstorms again on June 8 and 9," an official said.

Tumakuru, Chikkaballapura, Kolar, Chitradurga, Davanagere, Bengaluru Rural, Kodagu, Mysuru, Hassan, Ramanagara, Mandya, Dharwad, Gadag, Belagavi, Chamarajanagar and Vijayanagara districts are expected to receive heavy rain in the coming days, the officials said. P2

Pen drive case: HC seeks probe papers of accused

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE High Court of Karnataka on Monday issued an order to the Karnataka Government to place investigation papers related to the role of Sharath, an accused, in circulation of obscene pen drives allegedly involving Hassan MP Prajwal Revanna.

Justice M Nagaprasanna passed the order on a petition by Sharath stating that he has been dragged unnecessarily into the case based on a complaint filed at Hassan CEN police station by Poornachandra Tejaswi, election agent of National Democratic Alliance (NDA) candidate Prajwal, against Naveen Gowda and others.

The High Court directed additional public prosecutor BN Jagadeesha to file objections and secure the investigation papers from the Special Investigation Team (SIT) probing the case and submit them before it on June 10.

When the petitioner's counsel stated that he is being harassed and hence, interim protection of stay can be granted, the court said that it has to see the investigation papers, before passing any interim order. P4

DKS PATS BABUS, TELLS THEM TO COORDINATE ON RAIN ISSUES

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

RECORD rainfall on Sunday resulted in uprooting of 265 trees, falling of 365 tree branches, damage to 261 electricity poles, and left three persons with minor injuries. Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) received 694 complaints, of which 525 have been attended to and closed, said Deputy Chief Minister and Bengaluru Development Minister DK Shivakumar.

Holding a review meeting with officials of various civic agencies on Monday, the DCM lauded them for addressing the issues quickly. "Officials from BBMP, Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board (BWSSB), Bescom and Fire and Emergency Services coordinated among themselves to resolve the issues. This should be maintained, and the NDRF team should also be kept in the loop during emergencies," said the DCM, adding that the corporation will take responsibility for the treatment of the three injury cases.

Reminding officials about flash floods in the past due to stormwater drain encroachments, he directed them to be strict and not to succumb to legal threats by encroachers. "There is a High Court direction. Remove all encroachments on stormwater drains without showing any mercy," he told them.

Shivakumar also asked officials to identify old and dangerous buildings and make arrangements to shift people out, and if needed, to demolish the buildings to save lives. He told them there should be no loss of life or damage to properties during the monsoon.

With an official informing Shivakumar about heavy rainfall in the coming days, the DCM said a dedicated 24x7 control room had been set up, and asked them to add him to the group for effective monitoring. When asked about the absence of elected corporators for better civic administration, Shivakumar said officials will take care of it now, and once the Lok Sabha results are out, a decision will be taken on the BBMP Council elections.

Pre-monsoon tree damage a big concern, say activists

PURAN CHOUDHARY @ Bengaluru

OVER 500 trees have been uprooted in Bengaluru since the city witnessed showers in the days gone by. Environmentalists said the number could be much higher in the coming months as the monsoon approaches. For over a month, the city sporadically experienced gusty winds and high rainfall, damaging not just homes and electric poles, but also trees. Experts said in a growing city like Bengaluru, concretisation has had a major impact on the trees along the footpaths and roads.

On Sunday alone, the BBMP control room said it received 65 calls regarding entire trees having uprooted, especially in the South Zone. In total, 265 trees were damaged. During the first spell from May 7 to 8, Bengaluru witnessed the felling of 116 trees, though environmentalists said the number is underreported.

Speaking to TNIE, Vijay Nishanth, an environmentalist, said, "If you look at the photos and see how the trees fell, you will notice that they are getting uprooted from the bottom, alongside roads or footpaths. The trees have been blocked by tiles or cement, and hence, are unable to stabilise themselves in gusty winds. We have been asking the BBMP to conduct the tree census, which will be of tremendous help during the monsoon. We will know the species, the health of the tree, and based on the diseases, they can be segregated, aiding in preventing life-threatening situations." He added that over the next few months, more such cases are expected as the "management of trees" by the local body has been poor.

Another activist, DT Devare, trustee, Bangalore Environment Trust (BET), explained that the canopy management team of the BBMP forest department has done a hasty job preparing for the monsoon. "This is also a result of improper pruning by BESCOM. They have cut branches unscientifically, and with little wind, trees are falling. Many of the trees are also hollow from inside and nobody has been warned about them." Suggesting a few measures to curb the current depleting green cover of the city, he called up citizens to get involved. "Many citizen groups are aware of the vulnerable trees around their areas, they need to be roped in to warn the officials before adversity occurs," Devare said. Other solutions such as looking at measures to replant some of the trees, scientific planting, regular checks and department coordination can go a long way too.

Agencies get to work, clear tree from Metro tracks

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

SWIFT joint action by the State Disaster Response Force (SDRF), Fire department, BBMP and the police helped clear the large tree that had fallen on the Metro rail track between Trinity and M G Road stations, and resume the service.

"On June 2 at 7.26 pm, a large tree had uprooted due to severe weather conditions and fallen onto the Metro tracks between Trinity and MG Road stations. This incident necessitated an immediate halt to services on the affected section of the Purple Line network to ensure the safety of all passengers and short loop operations were carried out between MG Road and Challaghatta and Indiranagar and Whitefield (Kadugodi) Metro stations. Immediately, emergency protocols were activated to ensure passenger safety and to secure the affected area. The State Disaster Response Force - Karnataka, Fire department, BBMP and the police dispatched their units on the scene to ensure safety and clearance of the incident area," said a release issued by Bangalore Metro Rail Corporation Limited (BMRCL) on Monday.

The release further said that specialised equipment was brought in to expedite the removal process and a team of skilled workers and arborists worked tirelessly for more than four hours to cut and remove the fallen tree, despite heavy showers which caused additional hindrances.

After the tree was removed from the incident area, a series of comprehensive inspections were carried out by various wings of the BMRCL and once safety was ensured, trials were done before resuming normal operations.

NEEM SEEDS

'Mud laddus' to help revive Devanahalli Lake ecosystem

RISHITA KHANNA @ Bengaluru

IN a bid to revive the city's lakes suffering from ecosystem imbalance, due to climate change, around 40 environment enthusiasts, including children and students, made nearly 200 'mud laddus' to naturally disperse seeds in and around Devanahalli Lake, which is spread over 17 acres of land.

Previously, the water from the lake was used by locals to meet their irrigation needs, however, over the last few years, raw sewage has been entering the water body, garbage is being dumped into it, and there has been invasive growth of weeds.

Akin to dry fruits placed in the centre of laddus, these mud laddus contain neem seeds. When scattered around the lakes, these seeds disperse and germinate naturally. The volunteers intend to execute this initiative as the city anticipates a promising rainy season this year, which would help facilitate self-germination.

Srivatsan Ramkumar, a member of the Environmentalist Foundation of India (EFI), explained that volunteers use three basic ingredients — red sand, water, and neem seeds — to create balls with neem seeds at the centre. These mud laddus or mud balls are then left to dry for two days, before being planted around lakes to revive the environment.

He explained that seeds such as neem or bamboo are easy to cultivate, and red sand is convenient to handle due to its good water drainage and desirable grain structure, containing less moisture as the particles are naturally saturated.

Planting these balls around the lakes enables natural dispersal and germination, and furthermore fosters biodiversity by creating habitats for birds and microorganisms.

Srivatsan emphasised that climate change and ecosystem imbalance are causing lakes to dry up, killing fish, which sometimes decompose without being consumed by birds due to the absence of a balanced ecosystem. Therefore, this initiative will not only restore balance in the ecosystem, but also contribute in maintaining what the city is renowned for — pleasant weather — in the long term. The volunteers emphasised that people should not hesitate to get their hands dirty for a change, and encouraged the public to create similar laddus and contribute to the environment.

04TH June : Some people think that astrology determines the way things work out in our lives, as if the great finger of fate in the sky points at us – and, when it does, we have to jump. Well, let me tell you, it's not like that. What really matters is the power of positive thought, combined with the courage to put our plans into action. What astrology does is indicate good times to act - and how.

ARIES
(Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
While you may keep your feelings to yourself, you must consult others over all your personal plans and engagements, even those which have apparently already been settled. Plus, a cash crisis should soon blow over - much to your relief. And if good fortune should arrive, make the most of it.

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 - May 21)
If you are now faced with a break or separation, you should believe that all is for the best. Any change will affect your work and daily routine first, and your romantic life second. And then there's the little matter of a promise you made to someone else. Can you actually fulfil it? If not, you'd better say so now!

GEMINI
(May 22 - June 21)
This is time for inspiration - but also confusion. In all close, emotional relationships you must decide whether it is your pride that comes first, or your selfless desire to help a loved one achieve a cherished ambition. But can you do both? Well, perhaps!

CANCER
(June 22 - July 23)
You may wish to abandon unwanted commitments, but you are beginning to wonder whether freedom is really what you want! You should give yourself as much time as you need to ponder those all-important questions. Don't let someone else put unfair pressure on you.

LEO
(July 24 - Aug. 23)
Questions of survival are high on the agenda, which in simple terms means shopping trips and foraging for life's little essentials. The most extravagant amongst you are about to take on a rash financial commitment. You'd better make sure that you can handle it!

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Venus is challenging your chart, indicating a powerful swing between emotional highs and lows. Bearing in mind that freedom of choice is vital, emphasise the happy periods, and steer yourself away from self-doubt. And if you need reassurance, find it where you can.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
For the time being at least, partners or close companions should be less inclined to criticise, although that doesn't mean that you won't worry about what they think. Please try not to be hypersensitive! The problem is, you see, that you might pick up the wrong end of the stick.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
You are certainly in a position to get your own way, but you'll need a strong team to back you up. You may gather around you the supporters, allies and confidants who think as you do. An imminent family party could be especially memorable, as long as you've made the appropriate plans.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Loved ones, close friends, offspring and intimate companions all appear to be carrying on in very odd ways. There is even a chance that after another few days have passed, life could begin to resemble nothing so much as a theatrical farce; so keep up your sense of humour.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
This could be the best day of the week for handling complicated questions, especially if there's a legal or ethical dimension. Do your best to maintain standards of behaviour without being pompous or dogmatic, for other people need to see that you have their interests at heart.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Life hasn't always been easy. You know that! It's certainly been a long grind, but personal or professional recognition should now boost your confidence. You will even come to feel that all those upsets of the past were not in vain. Perhaps they have encouraged you to strive for higher standards.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
You hardly dare hope that your dreams will come true, and you know that if you allow your imagination free rein, you might make any disappointment that much worse. Play it cool - as cool, that is, as you ever can. But don't let someone think you don't care.

CLERIC RAPES MINOR GIRL FOR SIX MONTHS IN CHITRADURGA

Makes her brother sexually assault her as 'cure'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Chitradurga

A MOULVI (cleric) from a mosque in Chitradurga city was arrested by district police on charges of sexually assaulting a young girl who frequented the mosque for Quranic studies. The complaint was registered at the Women's police station on May 31.

The minor girl, who had been visiting the mosque for Islamic studies for three years, allegedly fell victim to the moulvi's advances. It is learnt that the moulvi told the family that the minor girl was possessed by evil spirits, which could not be cleared in the mosque. He then persuaded the family to allow him to visit their home, to ensure that the girl would be free of spirits.

The situation took a darker turn when the moulvi allegedly encouraged the victim's brother to rape her as a form of cure, and purportedly recorded the act. Each time he visited their house, he would take the girl and her brother into a room, and asked her parents to stay out. The cleric had reportedly brainwashed the girl's brother into believing that she was possessed by evil spirits, and needed to be dealt with sexually. The accused too raped her.

These shocking incidents of abuse reportedly occurred every week, over a span of six months, leading to the girl complaining of pain. Her parents sought medical attention, which brought her ordeal to light. Following a complaint filed by the victim's mother, a case was registered under the Protection of Children from Sexual Offences (POCSO) Act against the moulvi and the girl's brother.

District police swiftly took action, apprehending the two men and initiating a thorough investigation. SP Dharmender Kumar Meena told TNIE that both the moulvi and the victim's brother were taken into custody and investigation is going on at the Women's police station.

Rave party: Telugu actor Hema arrested by CCB

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

POPULAR Telugu actress Hema, who was wanted in connection with a rave party in Bengaluru, was arrested by Central Crime Branch (CCB) sleuths on Monday, and sent into judicial custody. The 57-year-old appeared before the CCB after two notices were served against her.

The police said she failed to respond satisfactorily to the questions asked during the inquiry after her arrest.

She was taken for a medical examination after which, the actress claimed that police had taken the blood, hair, and urine samples now, and denied the media's claims that medical tests had determined that she had consumed drugs. She also vented her anger at media persons.

Chandragupta, Joint Commissioner of Police (Crime), said that the actress was arrested for alleged consumption of drugs, giving false name and phone number when the police raided the party, and for having prior knowledge of drugs being supplied at the party and misleading investigating by making video statements.

The police produced her before the magistrate in Anekal, and she was remanded in judicial custody.

Earlier, the actress had released a video on social media claiming that she didn't attend the party. However, police confirmed that the actress made a video at the same farmhouse.

The police also arrested a drug peddler in connection with the case, on Sunday. The peddler was identified as Shariff, a resident of DJ Halli, who allegedly supplied drugs at the rave party.

Out of the 103 people present at the party, 86 people, including actress Hema, and Ashi Roy tested positive for drug consumption. The police served notice to around 20 people. The party was organised at a farmhouse - Sunrise to Sunset Victory, near Electronics City, from May 19 nigt to 20 morning. The sleuths of anti-narcotics wing of CCB, raided the place and arrested five including the party host Vasu, and seized 15 grams of MDMA, and six grams each cocaine and hydro ganja.

TIGHT SECURITY AT COUNTING CENTRES

Bengaluru: Elaborate security arrangements have been made at the three counting centres — Mount Carmel College in Vasanthnagar, St Joseph's Indian High School on Vittal Mallya Road and SSMRV College in Jayanagar 4th T Block. Nearly 1,523 officers, 13 platoons of armed police and four QRTs (Quick Response Teams) have been deployed around the counting centres. To ensure that movement of traffic is not affected near the counting centres, nearly 400 traffic police personnel have also been deployed. Meanwhile, prohibitory orders have been clamped from 6am to midnight in Bengaluru City Police Commissionerate limits. Gatherings of any kind and victory processions are strictly prohibited. Sale of liquor has also been banned in view of the counting. KSRP and CAR platoons have also been deployed across the city in sensitive areas. ENS

Woman dies, 39 fall ill after eating food during event

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Mysuru

A 65-year-old woman died and 39 villagers were admitted to hospital with vomit ting and diarrhea allegedly after consuming food at a housewarming ceremony at Marballi village in Jayapura hobli in Mysuru taluk.

According to officials, 65-year-old Shivamma of the village died on Monday. The housewarming ceremony was held at Marballi village on May 31. More than 350 villagers, who attended the function, consumed food. But on June 2, 39 people experienced vomiting and diarrhea. While some were treated at the primary health centre in the village, 27 people were admitted to Mysuru district hospital for further treatment.

District Health Officer PC Kumaraswamy said a temporary treatment centre was opened on the Marballi Gram Panchayat office premises to conduct medical check-up of the villagers. "The health centre with doctors and medical staff will work round-the-clock. There had been no symptoms of cholera," he said.

The villagers, who were admitted to the district hospital, said they had attended the housewarming function where more than 350 people eaten food. "We have no idea whether the incident happened due to consuming food at the function or for drinking contaminated water supplied in the village," the villagers said.

Meanwhile, taluk and health officials, who have visited the village, collected samples of the food and the water from the tanks for investigation.

SIT conducts searches at Valmiki co-op office

Bengaluru: The Special Investigation Team (SIT) on Monday raided the office of the Karnataka Maharshi Valmiki Development Corporation Limited in Vasanthnagar in connection with the alleged illegal transfer of Rs 94.7 crore. It is said that the police took the two arrested accused -- Managing Director JJ Padmanabha and Accounts Officer Parashuram G -- during the search. The officers reportedly searched important documents. A police source said another team was sent to Hyderabad to investigate the illegal money transfer to multiple bank accounts that are based there. The police had arrested Padmanabha and Parashuram on the outskirts of Bengaluru on Friday and took them into custody till June 6. ENS

Watch out for 'unnaturally bright' watermelons, mangoes, warn experts

RISHITA KHANNA @ Bengaluru

WATERMELON and mangoes, the most-awaited, favoured fruits of the season, are currently found to be adulterated', health experts have cautioned. This year, owing to low yield, mangoes are being artificially ripened using calcium carbide, while watermelons are injected with erythrosin B, a red dye, to speed up the ripening process and provide the fruit with a pleasing red hue. With multiple fruit fairs currently being held in the city, experts have flagged certain clues such as uniformly coloured fruits, bright appearance, and consistent size, indicating potential chemical presence.

Edwina Raj, Head of Services - Clinical Nutrition and Dietetics, Aster CMI Hospital highlighted that unnaturally bright or uniform colours on fruit, along with coloured wax coatings, can indicate the use of calcium carbide to accelerate ripening, particularly in mangoes.

This chemical releases harmful substances such as acetylene gas and traces of arsenic compounds, suggesting artificial intervention. "Fruits with pale or translucent hues, such as strawberries, grapes, melons, and cherries, are more likely to be targets for artificial colouring," Edwina emphasised.

She explained that artificial colours typically do not alter a fruit's inherent taste, but can mask spoilage or poor quality. Therefore, people must look for overly saturated colours which may indicate artificial colouring. Unlike hybrid fruits, artificially coloured fruits are often 'unnaturally bright' and 'uniformly coloured' across their entire surface. Moreover, carbide-ripened fruits lack extra juice content and may cause a mild burning sensation in the mouth, frequent thirst, vomiting, irritability, and dizziness.

Edwina advised that before consumption, fruits must be washed thoroughly and soaked in water to remove surface waxes or potential colour residues and children, who often just pick things and directly consume, must be educated about unusually vibrant fruit colours.

Dr Nasiruddin G, Consultant - Internal Medicine, Fortis Hospital said the strongest scientific evidence regarding food dyes is their association with hyperactivity in children. Multiple studies have demonstrated that food dyes can enhance hyperactivity in children with ADHD (Attention-deficit/hyperactivity disorder – marked by an ongoing pattern of inattention and/or hyperactivity-impulsivity that interferes with functioning or development), and those without, though sensitivity levels may differ.

NIMHANS to start project on students' mental wellbeing

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE National Institute of Mental Health and Neuro Sciences (NIMHANS), Bengaluru, in collaboration with the Departments of Health and Education in the state, is set to take forward an Indian Council of Medical Research (ICMR) initiative to enhance mental wellbeing and reduce suicide risks in Bengaluru's educational institutions.

The three-year project, part of a multistate study by ICMR, aims to develop evidence-based, scalable and sustainable models. A preliminary consultative meeting is scheduled with Health and Education department officials, mental health experts, and NGO representatives, to refine the action plan and discuss potential implementation challenges and facilitators at Arogya Soudha on June 5.

According to a 2021 UNICEF report, approximately 20% of young people aged 15 to 24 in 21 countries expressed feelings of depression or disinterest in activities. The National Mental Health Survey of India 2015–2016 revealed that 7.3% of adolescents and 10.6% of young adults faced diagnosable mental health issues, with urban areas showing twice the prevalence.

Therefore, the primary focus is to collect expert perspectives to enhance the action plan and discuss potential challenges and facilitators for implementing such initiatives on campuses at educational institutions.

Dr Seema Mehrotra, Principal Investigator and Professor of Clinical Psychology, NIMHANS, emphasised that a multidisciplinary team comprising experts from various departments at NIMHANS and the E-Health Research Centre at IIIT-B will collaborate closely with the Karnataka government to implement the initiative.

CONGRESS MLA PREDICTS NDA WIN

Kolar: Kolar Congress MLA Kothur Manjunath has predicted that the BJP-led National Democratic Alliance will form the government at the Centre. Speaking to reporters here on Monday, he said it is known that the BJP will come to power in the Centre again, but the Congress' target is the next election for which the party will start preparing from now. Manjunath said in Kolar parliamentary constituency, the Congress will win with a margin of 29,000 votes.

'Siddu govt may face hiccups'

IT could win only one seat in the 2019 polls. This time, the kin of many ministers are in the fray. "If they fail to get their kin elected, they may lose their ministerial berths," a source said. "I don't think the Siddaramaiah government will face a threat if Congress fails to win more LS seats. It has a solid mandate of 136 seats in the legislative Assembly. It may face some temporary hiccups," political scientist Dr Sandeep Shastri said.

Exit polls gave 20 seats to BJP-JDS alliance in the state. If this comes true, it will be a come back for the two parties, which faced a drubbing in the last Assembly elections.

"There will be no change in the state BJP leadership. The party will win more than 20 seats and the NDA will retain power at the Centre," party spokesman M G Mahesh said.

Former CM and JDS leader HD Kumaraswamy on Monday expressed confidence that his party will win all three seats.

EYES WILL BE ON THESE KEY CONSTITUENCIES

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

AS the results of the Lok Sabha polls will be out on Tuesday, these are the key constituencies in the state that will be keenly watched as the stakes are high with high-profile candidates in the race. The political future of the scion of erstwhile Mysore royal family Yaduveer, former CM HD Kumaraswamy in Mandya, DCM DK Shivakumar's younger brother DK Suresh and his opponent and former PM HD Deve Gowda's son-in-law Dr CN Manjunath in Bengaluru Rural, Hassan MP Prajwal Revanna, the key accused in a sex scandal, in Hassan and AICC chief Mallikarjun Kharge's son -in-law Radhakrishna Doddamani in Kalaburagi will be decided.

MANDYA

HD Kumaraswamy

Star Chandru

At this sugarbowl of Karnataka and a Vokkaliga bastion, JDS state president HD Kumaraswamy is contesting against a novice from Congress, Venkataramane Gowda aka Star Chandru, a realtor and a handpick of DCM and KPCC president DK Shivakumar. Outgoing MP Sumalatha Amabareesh had fought hard to become the NDA candidate, but ultimately had to sacrifice her seat to Kumaraswamy.

HASSAN

Prajwal Revanna

Shreyas Patel

It is the home turf of JDS supremo HD Deve Gowda, who passed it on to his grandson Prajwal Revanna in 2019. Prajwal's alleged involvement in a sex scandal rocked the political scene of Karnataka. The sleazy videos went viral a couple of days before the April 26 polls. It will be known whether the issue will impact the future of Prajwal, who is up against former MP late Puttaswamy Gowda's grandson Shreyas Patel.

MYSURU-KODAGU

Yaduveer Wadiyar

M Lakshmana

The scion of the erstwhile Mysore royal family Yaduveer Krishnadatta Chamaraja Wadiyar has debuted in politics as a BJP candidate and he is pitted against a novice in electoral politics M Lakshmana from Congress. As it is the home turf of CM Siddaramaiah, his prestige is at stake. While Lakshmana said he is a commoner, obviously pointing to the royal lineage of Yaduveer, the scion indulged in a spirited campaign to show that he too can get even.

BENGALURU RURAL

Dr CN Manjunath

DK Suresh

It was the only seat that Congress won in the state in the 2019 Lok Sabha polls. DCM and KPCC president DK Shivakumar's younger brother and sitting MP DK Suresh has locked horns with former PM HD Deve Gowda's son-in-law Dr CN Manjunath, a renowned cardiologist, contesting from BJP. Is it a masterstroke by Union Home Minister Amit Shah as touted by BJP members, or not, will be known on Tuesday.

KALABURAGI

Umesh Jadhav

R Doddamani

The seat from where AICC president Mallikarjun Kharge lost in the 2019 LS polls, his son-in-law and debutant Radhakrishna Doddamani is contesting as a Congress candidate. He is taking on sitting MP Dr Umesh Jadhav from BJP. A caste conundrum, Kalaburagi has been difficult to call. The prestige of senior Kharge and his son and RDPR minister Priyank Kharge is at stake here.

Will Mysuru give its mandate to royal family after 20 years?

K SHIVA KUMAR @ Mysuru

THE fate of 17 candidates, including Mysuru royal family scion Yaduveer Krishnadutta Chamaraja Wadiyar, will be decided on Tuesday, with the focus on Mysuru Lok Sabha seat. This contest has garnered national attention with the entry of the royal family into electoral politics after a gap of 20 years.

It turned into a battle of prestige between Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, more than a fight between Yaduveer and Congress candidate M Lakshmana, who has tasted defeat twice in the Legislative Council elections in the past.

The BJP denied a ticket to two-time sitting MP Prathap Simha and sprang a surprise, bringing Yaduveer to centrestage to contest the parliament election. Though there were too many aspirants from the JDS, the party's decision to join the NDA forced many to bury their differences and campaign for the BJP candidate in CM Siddaramaiah's home turf.

PM Modi and former PM HD Deve Gowda campaigned jointly for the NDA candidates -- Prajwal Revanna in Hassan, HD Kumaraswamy in Mandya, S Balaraj in Chamarajanagar and Yaduveer Wadiyar for the Mysuru-Kodagu seat. The BJP claims it will win with a comfortable margin as it has cut into Congress's traditional votes and has the support of youths, both urban and rural.

The Congress preferred to field its spokesperson M Lakshmana, who was vocal against the BJP and planned to win over Vokkaliga votes. CM Siddaramaiah made three visits to the constituency and camped in the assembly segments for more than a week to win over all sections, claiming the party has implemented the five guarantees.

Despite the BJP putting up a high-profile candidate in Mysuru-Kodagu seat, many here feel it is a tough call to predict if Vokkaliga voters would have thrown their weight behind the Congress, and also the fact that women have voted in big chunks. Congress leaders are confident of clinching the seat, claiming that minorities, Dalits and backward classes have solidly supported their candidate.

Though the post-poll scenario indicates that the BJP will do well here, party insiders are sceptical about whether the government's guarantees can tilt the balance.

QUESTION OF SURVIVAL

Meanwhile, Mandya has also drawn national attention with former CM HD Kumaraswamy in the fray. The JDS had to badly win the seat for the survival of the party, and political prospects of Kumaraswamy, who is likely to make it to the Union cabinet if BJP returns to power for a third term. The party claims that Kumaraswamy has an edge over Congress candidate and businessman Star Chandru.

MLC polls for six seats held, results on June 6

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

POLLING for the biennial elections to six Legislative Council seats in Karnataka – three each from Teachers' and Graduates' constituencies -- was held on Monday. The results are scheduled to be announced on June 6.

While the Karnataka South East Teachers constituency recorded a polling percentage of 95.27, the Bangalore Graduates constituency recorded the lowest of 65.86. Karnataka North East Graduates constituency recorded 69.51 per cent polling, Karnataka South West Graduates 78.19 per cent, Karnataka South West Teachers recorded 82.56 per cent and Karnataka South Teachers constituency recorded 88.07 per cent polling.

This year, three graduates' constituencies put together had 3.63 lakh voters and three teachers' constituencies, 70,260 voters. Polling was held at 170 centres for teachers and 461 for graduates. As many as 78 candidates were in the fray.

At present, in the 75-member upper house, Congress has 29 members. Out of the six seats for which polls were held on Monday, Congress holds one seat and the remaining five are represented by the BJP and JDS. Congress leaders are hoping to get more seats.

Congress fielded Marithibbe Gowda from Karnataka South Teachers, K K Manjunath from Karnataka South-West Teachers, Ayanur Manjunath from South-West Graduates, Chandrashekhar Patil from North-East Graduates, D T Srinivas from Karnataka South-East Teachers and Ramoji Gowda from Bangalore Graduates.

As BJP-JDS alliance candidates, the BJP fielded Amarnath Patil from Karnataka North-East Graduates, Dr Dhananjay Sarji from Karnataka South-West Graduates, A Devegowda from Bangalore Graduates and Y A Narayanaswamy from Karnataka South-East Teachers and JDS fielded K Vivekananda from Karnataka South Teachers and Bhoje Gowda from Karnataka South West Teachers.

JDS picks 'humble' worker Javarayi Gowda for MLC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

JDS has ultimately picked its ardent loyalist and 'humble man' TN Javarayi Gowda as its nominee for the June 13 Council polls from the Assembly. He filed his nomination papers accompanied by former chief minister and JDS state president HD Kumaraswamy on Monday.

The veteran leader had lost from the Yeshwanthpur Assembly constituency in 2013, 2018 and 2023 against BJP MLA ST Somashekar, who had turned a rebel saffron candidate, and had veered towards Congress of late. Javarayi Gowda's selection is an attempt to send a clear message that it will not let down its loyal leader and the Vokkaliga community, sources said.

With 19 MLAs, JDS can win one seat and Gowda's victory is certain as he will additionally get surplus votes from BJP MLAs. Incumbent MLC BM Farooq accepted Javarayi Gowda's candidature after former PM HD Deve Gowda convinced of the necessity to field the party loyalist, sources said. Another aspirant Kupendra Reddy too was convinced, they added. "Both Farooq and Reddy voluntarily offered not to be the nominees as Javarayi Gowda deserved to be the MLC and at a time when the party is in a bad shape," Kumaraswamy said.

BJP NOMINEES FILE PAPERS

Senior BJP leader CT Ravi, party state general secretary N Ravikumar and Maruthirao G Muley filed their nominations as BJP candidates. BJP with 66 MLAs can win three seats.

Congress nominees, including Chief Minister Siddaramaiah's son Dr Yathindra, political secretary K Govindaraju, Minor Irrigation Minister NS Boseraju, KPCC working president Vasanth Kumar, party's chief whip in the Council Ivan D'Souza, party Kalaburagi district president Jagdev Guttedar and former chairperson of Karnataka Minorities Commission Bilkis Bano filed their nomination papers. Siddaramaiah and DCM DK Shivakumar accompanied their nominees. Eleven seats will go to the polls on June 13 and Congress can win seven, BJP three and JDS one.

Canine clairvoyant's predictions captivate voters

KARTHIK K K @ Mysuru

AS the nation eagerly awaits the Lok Sabha election results, set to be announced on Tuesday, Mysuru region has embraced an unique tradition that's captivating both rural and urban folks alike.

The age-old practice of using animals for predictions has taken centrestage with parrots and dogs donning the mantle of mystics and forecasters.

Among these animal oracles, Bhairava, a two-year-old dog residing at the Kalabhairaveshwara Temple on KT Street, has made headlines with his election forecasts.

Bhairava's owner, Gopinath, conducted an experiment to predict the election outcomes. He placed portraits of key political figures in front of Bhairava and observed the dog's choices.

Videos of Bhairava taking his pick for the PM's post has gone viral on social media

For the Prime Ministerial race, Bhairava was presented with portraits of Narendra Modi and Rahul Gandhi.

In a moment that has since gone viral, Bhairava chose Modi's portrait, indicating a predicted victory for the incumbent PM. This prediction aligns with the exit polls that forecast a win for the BJP-led National Democratic Alliance.

The experiment didn't stop at the national level. Gopinath extended Bhairava's prowess to the Mysuru-Kodagu Lok Sabha constituency.

The dog was shown portraits of Congress candidate M Lakshmana and his BJP rival Yaduveer Krishnadatta Chamaraja Wodeyar, who has garnered significant attention in the region.

Once again, Bhairava made his choice, picking Yaduveer's portrait. This choice has sparked considerable interest and amusement among the local populace, further elevating Bhairava's status as a canine clairvoyant.

Videos of Bhairava's predictions have become a sensation on social media, capturing the imaginations of people across the region.

With a few hours left for the Lok Sabha election results, use of animals and birds, especially parrots and pigeons in rural parts and canines in the city region, have added an intriguing twist to the election fever gripping the country.

Simha upset with party over not picking Bhat

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mysuru

NEARLY a week after Aliya Assadi, the student who had fought for her right to wear the hijab in college in Udupi, mocked former BJP MLA Raghupathi Bhat for being expelled from the party in a tweet, Mysuru MP Prathap Simha expressed disappointment against the party for denying Bhat an MLC ticket.

Simha posted on his social media account that Raghupathi Bhat, who had fought against "burqa-clad students with jihadi mindset" violating the rules of educational institutions to wear the prescribed uniform, was denied both MLA and MLC tickets. As if that is not enough, he had been expelled from the party, and was mocked by the student, Aliya Assadi. "It is unfortunate that such circumstances have come to Hindutvavadis (Hindu activists)," he said. Simha expressed disappointment that Raghupathi Bhat was contesting the South-West Graduates Legislative Council seat as an independent candidate, after he was expelled from the BJP.

Meanwhile, former minister SA Ramadas slammed Raghupathi Bhat for contesting the MLC election against the official BJP candidate.

Ramadas said, "While some leaders left BJP and joined other political parties, some rebelled and contested as independent candidates. But I consider BJP as my mother, so I did not quit the party. Whatever we are today is because of the party... we have to wait for our time," he said.

Not asked minister Nagendra to quit, says CM

Bengaluru: Chief Minister Siddaramaiah on Monday said he has not sought Tribal Welfare Minister B Nagendra's resignation over alleged misappropriation of funds in the ST corporation. Rubbishing the opposition BJP's allegations that the minister threatened him, the CM told reporters that no one had threatened him and he had not asked for the minister to quit. "A Special Investigation Team has been constituted and let us wait for their report. Once they will give the report, we will take a decision," the CM said. The BJP has been demanding the minister's resignation as well as a CBI probe into alleged misappropriation of Rs 85 crore in the Karnataka Maharshi Valmiki Scheduled Tribes Development Corporation, a state government undertaking. ENS

I was 100% right: Harish Poonja on row with cops

Mangaluru: Notwithstanding the high court reprimanding him for creating ruckus at a police station, BJP MLA Harish Poonja on Monday justified his action. "I was 100 per cent right. What's wrong with that?" he said, adding that the phrase -- Does that belong to your father? -- which he used against the police inspector, is commonly used in Tulu. At a press meet in the presence of MP Nalin Kumar Kateel and a few BJP MLAs from the district, he said as an MLA, he was obliged to fight for his party worker when the latter was in trouble and "framed" in a case. He maintained that BJP Yuva Morcha president Shashiraj, who has been accused of illegal quarrying, was innocent and his name actually did not figure in the complaint copy, but was added in the mazhar copy. He alleged that Shashiraj's arrest was part of a political conspiracy. ENS

Prajwal's voice samples to be sent for analysis

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE SIT officers questioning 33-year-old Hassan MP Prajwal Revanna in the alleged sex scandal case are finding him a hard nut to crack as he is reportedly staying tight-lipped to all their questions.

Not getting any headway with the grilling, officers will now send his voice samples for forensic tests to ascertain if they match with the voice in the alleged explicit videos.

Prajwal was taken again to Bowring Hospital on Monday morning for a medical examination. Sources from the hospital said the MP had arrived between 11.00 am and 11.30 am with the SIT and left by 1 pm. He underwent routine assessment tests for blood pressure, blood sugar and cardiac health. All his vitals were normal, sources said.

It has been learnt that the JDS leader underwent routine medical examination again as he may be taken for spot mazhars to Hassan and other places. In the three FIRs registered against him, the victims told the SIT officers that they were sexually abused in the MP's official quarters on RC Road in Hassan and in Holenarasipur.

During the probe, the SIT also questioned him about his whereabouts during the 34 days before he landed in Bengaluru. However, Prajwal gave evasive replies and he maintained that his mobile phone was stolen for which he had registered a theft complaint.

Meanwhile, the four special teams constituted by SIT continued the search for the MP's mother Bhavani Revanna, who is wanted in a kidnap case registered at KR Nagar police station. A team of officers returned empty-handed after going in search for her to Mumbai.

THE counsel argued that the case was registered against Prajwal's driver initially and later the petitioner's name was added to it although there was no proof to show that he circulated the pen drives. No incriminating materials or documents were seized from the petitioner's premises, he said.

Meanwhile, Prajwal's mother Bhavani Revanna, who is an accused in the kidnap case, filed a petition before the high court seeking anticipatory bail.

The special court rejected her anticipatory bail petition on May 31. The statements of the victim, her sister and witnesses corroborated the fact that Bhavani played a vital role in the case, the court said.

Delhi-based DLF Group is said to be in talks with prospective buyers to sell the iconic Aspinwall House building in Fort Kochi, with its spokesperson refuting reports that the Indian Coast Guard is set to buy the 180-year-old heritage property. T'GANA TAPGATE

HC TAKES SUO MOTU COGNISANCE OF CASE

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Hyderabad

THE High Court of Telangana has taken suo motu cognisance of a shocking phone tapping case involving high-profile individuals, including a sitting judge of the Telangana High Court. The case was initiated after a news item was published in a Hyderabad city edition daily newspaper on May 29, 2024, under the caption "HC Judge's mob. tapped: EX-ASP."

The report revealed that the mobile phone of Justice Sarath, a judge of the Telangana High Court, was illegally tapped during an operation conducted during the tenure of the BRS government. The operation was reportedly orchestrated by T. Prabhakar Rao, the then SIB Chief, and involved monitoring and tapping the phones of several politicians and judges who were critical of K.T. Rama Rao, the then IT Minister and BRS party working president, in connection with the TSPSC question paper leak scam.

Former ASP N. Bhujanga Rao, in his confession, disclosed that the phones of all politicians who criticized K.T. Rama Rao were targeted. This illegal surveillance extended to High Court judges, with Justice Sarath being one of the victims. Other key figures involved in the operation included Mekala Tirupathanna, D. Praneeth Rao (SIB DSP), and former Task Force DCP G. Radha Krishan Rao, who worked under the supervision of T. Prabhakar Rao.

The team used advanced devices, typically employed for tracking terrorist units, to tap the phones of prominent political figures such as TPCC President A. Revanth Reddy, his brother Kondal Reddy, former Opposition leaders Uttam Kumar Reddy, Ponguleti Srinivas Reddy, and others.

In response to these serious allegations, the Chief Justice Bench of the High Court of Telangana will hear the case on Tuesday. The respondents in this suo motu Public Interest Litigation (PIL) include the Union Home Ministry, the Chief Secretary of Telangana, the Director General of Police (DGP) of Telangana, the Principal Secretary to the Government, Home Department of Telangana, the Additional DGP, Intelligence, and the Commissioner of Police, Hyderabad.

SC to YSRC MLA: No entry in counting centre

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY
@ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Monday in its order barred sitting YSRC MLA Pinnelli Ramakrishna Reddy from entering the counting centre of Macherla Assembly constituency on Tuesday, and it asked the Andhra Pradesh High Court to dispose of the petition on merits, after noting that granting anticipatory bail to him is 'sheer mockery'. Pinnelli was allegedly destroyed an EVM at a polling booth in Macherla on the polling day on May 13.

A two-judge vacation Bench of the apex court, led by Justice Aravind Kumar and Justice Sandeep Mehta, said the grant of anticipatory bail to the accused (Pinnelli) by the AP High Court was highly erroneous and needless.

Questioning the order of granting anticipatory bail to Pinnelli, the apex court observed, "It is sheer mockery of the system. The order is highly erroneous in granting of interim protection (to Pinnelli), where was the need?"

The top court made these observations and passed the order barring Pinnelli from entering the counting centre in Macherla constituency on Tuesday, after hearing two petitions filed by a TDP polling agent from Macherla, Namburi Seshagiri Rao, fearing threat to his life following poll violence in the Assembly segment.

He had moved the apex court by filing his first plea in it, and sought cancellation of the High Court's order granting interim protection to Pinnelli.

The second plea of Seshagiri Rao highlighted that despite video evidence against Pinnelli, police filed the case against unknown persons in the EVM vandalisation incident. The police failed in its duty to name Pinnelli as the accused, he said.

Seshagiri Rao alleged that he has a life threat from Pinnelli and his supporters. The TDP activist claimed that the MLA might resort to violence on the day of counting too.

Unsuspecting residents consume water from a tank with rotting body

A SESHACHARYULU @ Nalgonda

RESIDENTS of various colonies in Nalgonda town were suspected to have consumed drinking water for almost 10 days from a tank in which the body of a man rotted away. This shocking incident came to light on Monday when municipal staff found the body in the 10,00,000 gallon water tank in Hindupur ward of Nalgonda town.

The body was identified as that of Avula Vamsi Krishna Yadav (27), a mentally unstable person from the same area where the overhead tank is located.

Krishna Yadav reportedly had gone missing on May 24 and his parents lodged a complaint with the Nalgonda Town police the same night. About 15,000-20,000 residents in six colonies in four wards are being supplied drinking water from the tank. Some people reportedly complained to the municipality staff about the bad smell emanating from the drinking water.

Two residents of the colonies, Ravinder and Srinivas, told reporters that some children in Hosing Board had developed fever three days ago and they suspected sunstroke was the cause of illness. They said that they could no more bear the bad smell and put pressure on municipal officials on Monday.

Following this the staff checked the tank and found the body. The residents blamed the indifference of the municipality officials for their plight.

Meanwhile, municipality authorities clarified that when they checked the tank for cleaning on May 30 and June 1, they had not found any body in the water. They claimed that the tank was cleaned every 2-3 days.

The officials added that preliminary investigation revealed that the man had been dead for only 2-3 days. The residents doubted the claims of the municipal officials that the man had been dead for only 2-3 days.

"Autopsy is being conducted, as some injury marks were on the body," said municipality officials. Police are also looking into a possible suicide or murder.

Former MLA K Bhupal Reddy told TNIE that this situation arose due to the negligence of the municipal authorities.

SP Chandana Deepthi said that the police launched an investigation into the case, and said that Krishna Yadav had been dead for 2-3 days.

'Toll fee hike annual exercise'

NHAI (Bengaluru) regional officer Vilas P Brahmankar, said, "The toll fee hike is an annual exercise by NHAI under its National Highways Fee Rules. This hike aligns with the Wholesale Price Index (WPI)-based inflation. The hike will be applicable for highways in Karnataka and will be valid till March 31, 2025."

However, some highways are under old contract and their renewal is not in line with the annual April 1 revision. "Some highways are due for the toll hike this year, others in September. The revision will be done by then," Brahmankar said.

He said, "The revision is linked to WPI. An average of 5% revision is done. For example, if the 5% toll hike comes to Rs 2.5, it will be rounded off to Rs 5 and if it is Rs 7 or Rs 7.5, it will be rounded off to the next round figure of Rs 10, Rs 15, and so on."

Meanwhile, motorists are not happy with NHAI's move to increase the toll rates. Despite annual hike in toll fee, some stretches of the highways are in bad condition.

REVISED TOLL FEE EFFECTIVE FROM JUNE 3 (FOR CAR/JEEP/VAN):

JOB CREATION, SKILL TRAINING SHOULD BE NEW GOVT'S TOP PRIORITIES

JOBLESSNESS and inflation were the key concerns of the electorate at the 2024 parliamentary elections. The new government that will be signed in soon cannot take the two issues—especially that of joblessness—lightly. While there can be a debate on whether the inflation picture is indeed as dire as is being painted by some, there is no disputing the fact that the country is facing a jobs crisis. The latest Periodic Labour Force Survey (PLFS), with numbers for the January-March 2024 quarter, shows unemployment—especially youth unemployment—and underemployment are indeed very high in a country where the labour force participation rate is just about 50 percent. So, whichever government comes to power at the Centre must pay attention to the issue.

The PLFS shows that the unemployment rate in the 15-29 age group was at 17 percent in the first quarter of the calendar year. While this was lower than the 17.3 percent recorded a year ago, such a high unemployment rate, especially when labour force participation in this age category is just 40 percent, is a cause for concern. India, which boasts of a large young population, cannot afford to wither away this demographic advantage due to a lack of better jobs. Underemployment is a bigger issue for the country. Even though the unemployment rate across age categories came down to 6.7 percent in the January-March 2024 period, a granular look at the data shows a large section of those who were 'employed' were basically self-employed. This comes to more than 40 percent of those employed, with 6.4 percent working as helpers in household enterprises. As much as 10.8 percent were casual labourers. Only 48.7 percent were salaried employees.

The youth unemployment problem in some states is starker than in others. While Kerala shows a youth unemployment rate of 32 percent, industrialised states like Telangana also show high unemployment among this group at 26 percent. States such as Rajasthan and Odisha, despite decent industrialisation over the years, show youth unemployment of over 20 percent. The issue is clearly not only of inadequate industrialisation, but also of a skill gap among young people. Governments will have to invest massively in education—starting from the primary level—to ensure that future generations are well-equipped for jobs. This is easier said, but it needs to be done.

REAL MADRID VICTORY A SIGN OF THE TIMES

THERE was a sign of inevitability even before German club Borussia Dortmund hit the post and missed a few presentable opportunities in the first half. After all, they were playing Real Madrid—a club steeped in history and eternally blessed with luck, especially in big finals, even when they look shoddy. In the second half, Real emerged with clearer minds and won 2-0 to lift another Champions League title. To gauge the enormity of their achievement, one has to go through numbers. Six Champions League titles in 10 years and 15 in all in Europe's most prestigious club competition. The current Spanish league champions have not lost a final since 1981—they have played and won nine. They may look tattered and listless at times, yet they find a way to win. No one in Europe has done that. Just by numbers, they could be considered the greatest club in Europe. This victory will only cement their place at the top.

Luka Modric, Nacho Fernández, Toni Kroos and Dani Carvajal are a select few who have lifted the trophy six times. Together with the prodigious Vinicius Jr, great young conjurors like Jude Bellingham, Rodrygo and the sublime Fede Valverde, and goalkeeper Thibaut Courtois' acrobatic saves, they resembled a well-assembled orchestra, with coach Carlo Ancelotti holding the conductor's wand. If Dortmund were wondering what else they could have done, they were not alone. Manchester City, another well-oiled ensemble, and Bayern Munich also tasted defeat this season.

Kylian Mbappe, one of the greatest footballers of this generation along with Vinicius, could not have asked for a better backdrop to announce his arrival in the Spanish capital. His much-talked-about free transfer is almost a done deal, with Real hoping to announce it later this week. If Mbappe's joining will be celebrated, Kroos's exit will be considered a tough pill to swallow. Modric, too, is biding his time. Carvajal and Nacho are on their last leg. It's perhaps natural that the baton would be passed to the next generation to play more masterpieces.

With the Euro 2024 set to begin in less than two weeks' time, players now need to focus on their national duties. Two countries with the richest club structures—England and Spain—would be hoping for the fortunes to rub off on their national teams.

QUICK TAKE

WHEN THE EXECUTIVE FAILS

THE national capital has been reeling from a water crisis amid unrelenting heatwaves. But Haryana has been refusing to pass on extra water to Delhi, blaming the shortfall on a leaky infrastructure and the water mafia. Last week, Delhi approached the Supreme Court to get more water from Himachal Pradesh through Haryana. On Monday, a vacation bench called for an emergency meeting of all stakeholders later this week to resolve the issue. Whether on pollution or water, the fact that the judiciary needs to step in for matters that should be handled by the legislature and executive says a lot about the state of governance in the country.

Ground realities kept shifting through the electoral process. Discontent with incumbents was manifest in the head, but the heart seemed to be asking for something else

THE TORTUOUS COURSE OF ELECTIONS 2024

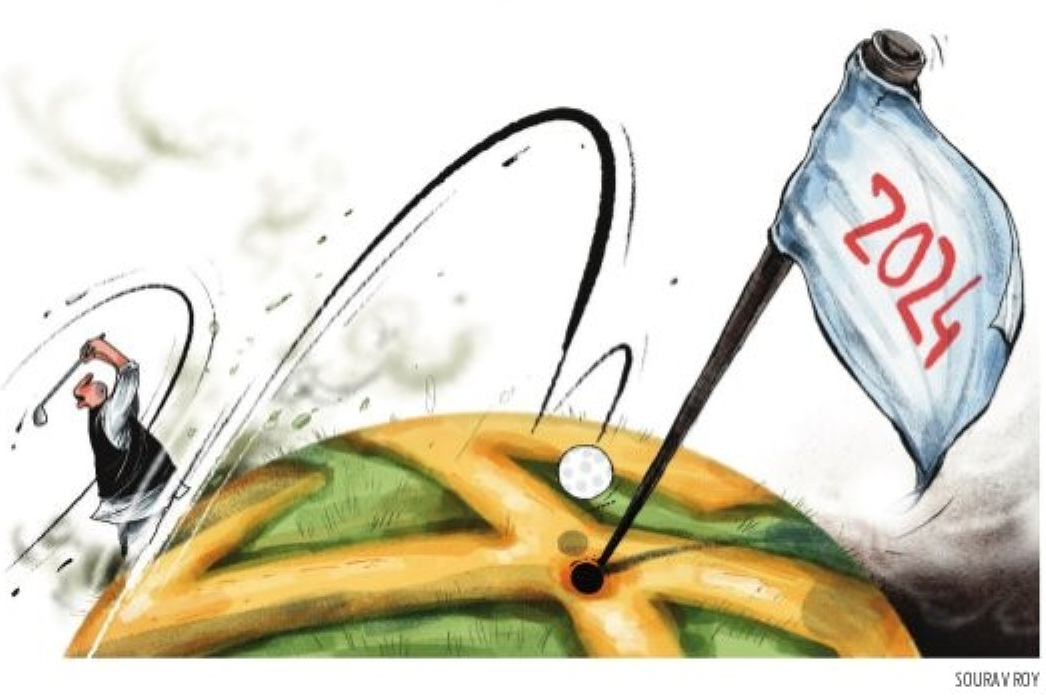
RADHIKA RAMASESHAN

Columnist and political commentator

WITH exceptions, exit polls in India are not known for exactitude. The projections aired on June 1 were riddled with inconsistencies, arising largely from erroneous seat counts, for which no ex post facto explanations were offered except to celebrate the "data". But if we treat the numbers as a bellwether of the final outcome, what do they portend—especially when read in tandem with some detailed and excellent reports from the ground?

The BJP is expected to retain its near-hegemonic status in its traditional swaths in the north and west. It made an aggressive push in the east (outside the north-east) to step up its presence in West Bengal and claim Odisha from its friend-turned-frenemy, the Biju Janata Dal (BJD). The Trinamool Congress (TMC) and the BJD are not easy meals to be devoured, but the BJP relentlessly fought both.

It says a lot for the BJP's divination to take nothing for granted when it sensed that the Maha Vikas Aghadi (MVA) in its original form—led by the formidable Sharad Pawar and Uddhav Thackeray, who demonstrated that he is no pushover—had to be brought down to clear the playing field for itself. It splintered the Shiv Sena and NCP (the third prong, the Congress, is inconsequential) and hoped the ensuing legal tangles for claiming the original nomenclatures and symbols—the prerequisite of party politics from a voter's perspective—would confuse the picture and throw the major players in a quandary as rather than take the opposition's narrative to people, they would have to expend time, energy and resources in explaining the basics. That's exactly what seems to have happened in Maharashtra, which brings in 48 seats to the Lok Sabha and has never been hospitable to the BJP; it had to hold the hands of a regional party to stand on its feet. The rebooted MVA failed to disseminate its new names and symbols except for the Sena, whose cadre was strong in places.



SOURAV ROY

Maharashtra classically illustrated the practice of 'Chanakya neeti' and the precept of winner takes all, without in fact being a winner in real terms. Odisha is another example of the game-plan now honed to near-perfection by Amit Shah, the home minister. BJD president and chief minister Naveen Patnaik—one of the most successful legatees—should have realised there are no permanent friends in politics. For long, Odisha was not on the BJP's radar, except when it tried to communalise the Adivasi-dominated Kandhamal in 2008 by pitting the tribes against Christian missionaries. The BJP gained nothing from what seemed like a misadventure in hindsight.

To the Odisha BJP leaders' chagrin, central BJP leaders gave an impression that they were content to yield the state to Patnaik in lieu of his support on critical legislative issues in parliament. When it was clear that the BJP could not hope to rule India by yoking itself for posterity to the north and west, Modi and Shah went full steam for the east (the north-east was under their belt with 'friends') and targeted Odisha. The BJP spied an opening when Patnaik anointed a former bureaucrat and confidant V K Pandian as a virtual successor (though he later denied the move). Pandian is Tamilian. The BJP used his southern provenance to strike a regional chord, which worked with the BJD's rank. It was a decision that might cost the BJD and help the BJP.

How the east beckons, unlike the south that remains patchy for the BJP. In West Bengal, under the energetic and belligerent Suvendu Adhikari, the BJP takes no prisoners; it goes for the kill. The BJP had a headstart with the episode at Sandeshkhali where women were allegedly molested by a local TMC strongman who was reluctantly arrested. The TMC later released a video to debunk the BJP's allegation, but the damage was apparently done.

It is not the Hindutva ideology that permeated the soil of Odisha and West Bengal as much as disenchantment with the incumbent provincial leaders. Patnaik and Mamata have had long innings. But the withering away of the Left in Bengal and the Congress in Odisha kindled optimism in the BJP as a prospective alternative, although the hope is not based on any proven achievement in these states.

The INDIA bloc was birthed in confusion and was up against every conceivable odds a coalition could be against: the absence of a leader, an enfeebled Congress, shaky partnerships in Delhi and West Bengal, an ambivalent Left that sought to befriend the Congress in Bengal and abuse it in Kerala, and a record of losses in the state elections in the north. Where the Congress was up against the BJP in straight fights, it was a foregone conclusion who the winner was.

However, to INDIA's credit, it overcame some of the impediments and fashioned its own narrative, which did not fall into the BJP's provocative Hindutva and Modi-centred rhetorical trap. Within the ambit of the Congress's 25 guarantees and Rahul Gandhi's economic pitch, INDIA's campaign focused on unemployment, inflation, farmers' travails, electoral bonds and the threat to the Constitution that it alleged could eventually lead to scrapping or watering down statutory reservations.

That the BJP was stung by the stress on the Constitution was obvious when its president J P Nadda distanced his party from the RSS, which periodically insinuates that quotas must go.

In a normal ambience and on an even playing ground without institutional partisanship, such issues would have persuaded an electorate hungry for jobs and saddled with rising prices. It speaks of the times we live in that emotions founded on high-decibel propaganda and illogic should get the better of the voter's ability to think through issues. Large swaths on the national canvas are witnessing what Gujarat and Uttar Pradesh went through in recent elections. Discontent is manifest in the head, but the heart asks for something else.

A renewed mandate for Modi and the BJP could put paid to the ambitions of the regional forces that strove for a space in INDIA and outside. If the plight of the BJD, YSRCP, AAP and even the TMC is a barometer, the survival of the state parties is at stake.

HOW AMBEDKAR CREATED A UNITARY, INDEPENDENT EC

H V HANDE

Former minister of health, Tamil Nadu

I was 25 years old when I voted for the first Lok Sabha in 1952. This time, with 97 crore eligible voters, the election that just finished was the biggest on the planet. The Election Commission deserves our unstinted praise for conducting it. Except for a few incidences during the seventh round of polling, the process has been by and large peaceful—a real festival of democracy.

The validity of results declared by the EC has never been doubted, even by candidates who lost by just a few votes. I would know, because as a candidate in 1980, I stood from the Anna Nagar constituency in Chennai and lost by 699 votes to DMK chief M Karunanidhi. Over time, I have been a five-time legislator.

All things considered, Indian elections are regarded as a model for the world. We should be proud of our democracy. What worked well for India is an empowered and independent EC. To know why Indians have implicit faith in the EC, one has to delve a little bit into the past. I also want to illustrate with a comparison to the US system.

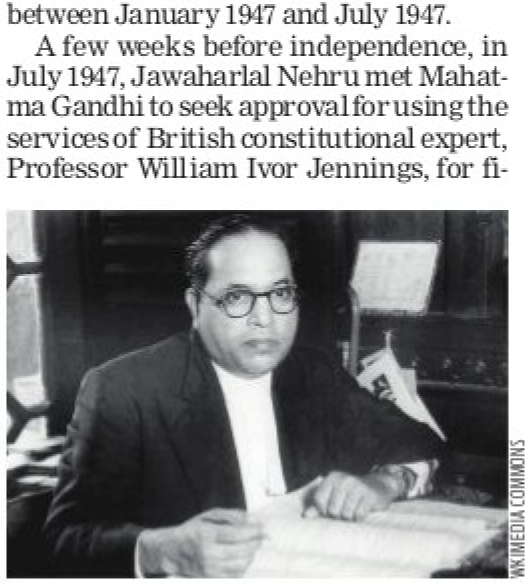
The US has a presidential form of government and India is a parliamentary democracy. There are strengths and weaknesses in each form. The limited point I am making here is the difference in the electoral governance structures. In the US, the Federal Election Commission oversees federal elections, while each state has its own election administration responsible for state and local elections. In India, the Election Commission is an autonomous body responsible for conducting all elections, from the local to the national levels.

In the US, election rules vary widely among states because states, rather than the federal government, play the primary role in creating election administration policy. This can lead to a lot of confusion. In the 2020 presidential election, the certification deadlines in five states were within a week of polling. In 28 states, the deadlines were between November 10 and November 30. In 14 states and the District of Columbia, they were in December. And three states did not have fixed deadlines.

India would have been in the same boat, but for the wisdom of B R Ambedkar. In this context, it is relevant to recapitulate a few incidents connected with the evolution of the final draft of the Constitution presented before the Constituent Assembly on November 25, 1949.

Though the Constituent Assembly had begun its deliberations on December 9, 1946, Ambedkar was not directly involved in the process of drafting the Constitution between January 1947 and July 1947.

A few weeks before independence, in July 1947, Jawaharlal Nehru met Mahatma Gandhi to seek approval for using the services of British constitutional expert, Professor William Ivor Jennings, for finalising the draft. The Mahatma turned down the proposal, saying, "When we are sending the foreigners away, why a foreigner again?" He asked Nehru to enlist the help of Ambedkar and make him independent India's first law minister.



WIKIMEDIA COMMONS

> Before Ambedkar took over as chairman of the Constitution drafting committee on Gandhi's advice to Nehru, the idea was to have different election commissions for central and state polls. A comparison with the decentralised process in the US shows this could have led to confusion

Though Nehru initially resisted, he finally accepted the advice. This is how Ambedkar became chairman of the Constitution Drafting Committee a fortnight later, on August 30, 1947 and the Union law minister on August 15.

After Ambedkar took over, many of the earlier drafts were re-examined and reshaped. One concerned the subject of constituting the Election Commission. This was originally numbered as Draft Article 289, and finally ended up as the famous Article 324 of the Constitution, under which elections have taken place ever since.

Draft Article 289 envisaged different election commissions for the Centre and the states, which was radically changed by Ambedkar. Explaining this in the Constituent Assembly, Ambedkar said: "The original proposal under Article 289 was that there should be one commission to deal with the elections to the central legislature, both the Upper and Lower Houses, and that there should be a separate election commission for each province and each state, to be appointed by the governor or ruler of the state. This [new Article 324] proposes to centralise the election machinery in the hands of a single commission to be assisted by regional commissioners, not working under provincial governments... As I said, this is a radical change."

To further strengthen the commission, he said, "The Chief Election Commissioner shall not be liable to be removed except in the same manner as a judge of the Supreme Court. If the object of this House is that all matters relating to elections should be outside the control of the executive government of the day, it is absolutely necessary that the new machinery which we are setting up should be irremovable by the executive by a mere fiat. We should therefore give the Chief Election Commissioner the same status, so far as removability is concerned, as we have given to the judges of the Supreme Court."

Let us for a moment imagine what would have happened to the country if each state functioned with its own election commission as envisaged before Ambedkar's intervention. It is this farsightedness of Ambedkar that makes India a robust democracy. To accept 'vox populi, vox dei (the will of the people is the will of god)' would be the most gracious thing to do.

The EC is a constitutionally independent body that upholds democracy and is its bedrock. Any attempt to undermine the integrity of the electoral process or an attack on our democratic institutions poses a significant risk to public order and trust in the electoral system.

Unjustified postponement

Ref: Sri Lanka's struggle with election phobia (Jun 3). The proposal to have a referendum to push back Sri Lanka's elections is disrespectful of the country's democracy and Constitution. Maintain prestige

The University of Madras, established in 1857, is the pride of South India. In fact, this university was established along the model of the University of London. Such a lofty educational institution now functions without a Chief Executive Officer. This is quite shocking. The stakeholders must earnestly endeavour in maintaining the scale of glory and prestige of the university.

Jairam draws EC ire over Shah remarks

MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi

REACTING to Congress leader Jairam Ramesh' allegation that Union Home Minister Amit Shah called up 150 district magistrates (DMs) after voting was completed, Chief Election Commissioner Rajiv Kumar on Monday said it is "not right to spread rumour and doubt about everyone."

The Election Commission also rejected Ramesh's request for a week's extension of the deadline to submit his reply with factual details to back his allegation. The poll panel asked him to reply by 7 pm on Monday. Addressing the media, the CEC dared the opposition to share evidence of allegations that returning officers and DMs were influenced to vitiate the poll process, so EC could take action against them.

"The opposition should also tell the commission about those trying to influence the poll process before the counting of votes begins," said Kumar flanked by Election Commissioners Gyanesh Kumar and SS Sandhu.

"The Commission has made preparations to deal with any foreign attempt to influence the poll process but these allegations have come from within the country itself," he said.

Extension request rejected

The EC rejected Ramesh's request for a week's extension of the deadline to submit his reply with factual details to back his allegation. The poll panel asked him to reply by 7 pm on Monday. The CEC dared the opposition to share evidence of allegations that returning officers and DMs were influenced to vitiate the poll process, so EC could take action against them.

Kumar admitted that EC had failed to counter the mischievous narratives spread during the poll process. "We were prepared to deal with money power, muscle power, misinformation and MCC violation. But we failed to anticipate mischievous narratives. It is learning for us," he said.

Taking exception to allegations that DMs were being influenced, CEC said, "Those leveling allegations should say which DM was influenced and we will punish them. They should tell us before the counting process begins." Ramesh, in his response to the EC, said, "We cannot put serving officers in jeopardy by putting a target on their backs." He also mentioned that he "shall reply, but needs a week's time due to his official duties ahead of counting."

Cong men told to be alert during count

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

STEPPING up vigil ahead of the counting day, the Congress on Monday directed party workers to reach the district Congress offices and state Congress headquarters to help the party's efforts in safeguarding the votes.

"As we have seen in the last few weeks, the BJP and their leaders have repeatedly violated the Modal Code of Conduct; openly spoke about changing the Constitution and their attempts to kill the democracy. It is due to this ethically corrupt conduct of the BJP, that we need to be alert to- morrow during the counting phase," said an internal communication from its war room.

"Instead of watching TV news and observing the results from home, we request all party workers to reach the District Congress offices and State Congress headquarters to help the party's efforts in safeguarding our votes," it said.

The party also set up a monitoring centre in Delhi which will be working 24/7, said the letter. If any discrepancies are found, the party asked the workers to record in their phone and send the video immediately to the helpline number.

"We also have established a huge legal team to take necessary action on any such discrepancy. Please send the name of the counting centre and the Lok Sabha constituency along with the video," it said..

'Serve nation without fear'

Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge on Monday wrote an open letter to the country's bureaucracy, urging officers to adhere to the Constitution and serve the nation without fear, favour and ill-will against anybody. "Do not get intimidated. Do not bow to any unconstitutional means and discharge your duties based on merit," he said.

Meanwhile, Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge on Monday wrote an open letter to the country's bureaucracy, urging officers to adhere to the Constitution and serve the nation without fear, favour and ill-will against anybody.

"Do not get intimidated by anyone. Do not bow down to any unconstitutional means. Do not be afraid of anyone and discharge your duties, based on merit, on this counting day," he wrote.

"We owe it to future generations, a vibrant Democracy and a long-lasting Constitution, as penned by the makers of modern India," he said.

Nitish meets Modi for a 'courtesy call'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

AHEAD of the counting of votes for the Lok Sabha polls, Bihar Chief Minister Nitish Kumar met Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Monday. However, there was no official word on the details of the meeting.

While the meeting has sparked speculations in political circles that the JD (U) chief could take another U-turn after the poll results on June 4, party's national spokesperson KC Tyagi told this newspaper that it was a courtesy call and there wouldn't be any changes in the Bihar government after the results.

"CM Nitish Kumar's meeting with PM was just a courtesy call. The meeting lasted for 15 minutes. There is nothing more to read into it. This is all rumour mongering," said Tyagi. The exit polls have predicted upper hand for the NDA in Bihar over the grand alliance led by the RJD.

Kumar's JD (U) is part of the BJP-led NDA and is seen as a declining, though still significant, force in the state amid strong efforts by the RJD to challenge the ruling combine.

Recently, RJD leader Tejashwi Yadav has taken a swipe at Kumar saying that the CM could take another "big decision after June 4 to save his party". However, Kumar asserted that he would not go "anywhere" from the NDA. Nitish had switched over to the BJP-led alliance in January. "After June 4, our uncle can take any big decision. He can do anything to save his party and the politics of backward classes," said Yadav.

'Big decision to save party'

RJD leader Tejashwi Yadav has taken a swipe at Kumar saying that the CM could take another "big decision after June 4 to save his party". However, Kumar asserted that he would not go "anywhere" from the NDA. Nitish had switched over to the BJP-led alliance in January. "After June 4, our uncle can take any big decision," said Yadav.

Tyagi dismissed the statement as immature and rumour mongering. "The statement about the CM was in bad taste. He shouldn't have made it," said Tyagi.

CM Kumar has been at the helm in Bihar since 2005 except for a brief period but there have been some questions over his future as the BJP and RJD are the two biggest parties in the state.

Before leaving for Delhi on Sunday, Kumar told reporters in Patna that Narendra Modi government will be formed for the third time. He replied to a query about exit polls.

Fresh breather for Sukhu-led HP govt

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

IN a fresh breather for the Sukhvinder Singh Sukhu-led Congress government in Himachal Pradesh assembly speaker Kuldeep Singh Pathania has accepted the resignation of three Independent MLAs who voted in favour of the BJP candidate in the Rajya Sabha polls a few months back. The strength of the House has now come down to 59.

The three MLAs—Hoshiyar Singh from Dehra, Ashish Sharma from Hamirpur and KL Thakur from Nalagarh—voted for BJP candidate Harsh Mahajan in the February 27 Rajya Sabha elections along with six Congress rebel legislators. These legislators had submitted their resignation to the Speaker on March 22.

"By accepting the resignations of three independent MLAs, CM Sukhu has ensured that his government will survive for another few months. The decision comes as a reprieve for the Congress," said a senior BJP leader.

The strength of the house is reduced to 59. The Congress has 34 legislators, BJP 25, even as the results of six assembly by-elections are awaited.

House strength down

The House strength is down to 59 from 68 with six rebel Cong MLAs resigning earlier and three independents quitting. Congress has 34 legislators, BJP 25, even as the results of six assembly by-elections are awaited. These MLAs joined the BJP on March 23 and moved the Himachal Pradesh HC seeking directions to speaker to accept their resignations.

These MLAs joined the BJP on March 23 and moved the Himachal Pradesh High Court seeking directions to the speaker to accept their resignations. However, due to divergent views on whether the court could issue directions to the speaker, the matter was referred to a third judge. It is pending in the court. The MLAs had also staged a dharna in the Assembly complex to press their demand.

Leader of the opposition and former chief minister Jai Ram Thakur said though the speaker delayed his decision, it is a correct decision. It would have been better had the speaker accepted the resignations earlier and paved the way for simultaneous elections," he said.

"The BJP is trying to fish in troubled waters and is continuing its efforts to destabilise the Congress government in the state with use of money power," said deputy CM Mukesh Agnihotri.

7 ex-HC judges write to Prez, CJI & EC to follow 'democratic precedent'

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY
@ New Delhi

SEVEN former high court judges on Monday wrote an open letter to President Droupadi Murmu, CJI and ECI urging them to follow the 'established democratic precedent' and invite the largest pre-poll alliance to form the government to preempt horse trading if the 2024 general elections lead to a hung Parliament.

The retired judges also urged Chief Justice of India D Y Chandrachud and the chief election commissioner to uphold the Constitution by ensuring a smooth transition of power, if the present ruling dispensation loses people's mandate. The open letter is signed by six former Madras High Court judges G M Akbar Ali, Aruna Jagadeesan, D Hariparanthaman, P R Shivakumar, C T Selvam, S Vimala and former judge of Patna High Court Anjana Prakash.

They said there was 'genuine concern' that if the present ruling dispensation loses people's mandate, the transition of power may not be smooth and there could be a constitutional crisis. Concurring with the May 25 open statement of Constitutional Conduct Group (CCG) of former civil servants, they said, 'We are constrained to agree with the scenario envisaged in the above statement: 'In the event of a hung parliament, onerous responsibilities will be placed upon the shoulders of the President of India.

"We are sure that she will follow the established democratic precedent of first inviting the pre-poll alliance that garnered the largest number of seats. Also, that she would endeavour to preempt the possibilities of horse-trading'."

It said the former judges hoped that their apprehensions were wrong and the elections would end smoothly but they believed that prevention is better than cure.

NIA files chargesheet on Delhi-Padgha IS module

MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi

THE National Investigation Agency has filed a charge sheet against 17 agents of the proscribed global terrorist network in a conspiracy involving the recruitment and radicalization of youth and the fabrication of improvised explosive devices in the Delhi-Padgha (Maharashtra) ISIS terror module case, officials said on Monday.

The officials mentioned that with these 17 accused, 20 have been named in the multiple charge sheets filed in this case. The case has exposed global linkages with foreign handlers, they added. The officials stated that the NIA had, in its first charge sheet, named three persons in March 2023. The current one was filed before the Special Court at Patiala House in New Delhi.

Those 17, who have been named in the supplementary charge sheet, include 15 from Maharashtra and one each from Uttarakhand and Haryana.

The charge sheet has been filed under various sections of the IPC, the UA(P) Act, the Arms Act, and the Explosive Substances Act. The officials added that all of them were found to have been engaged in a massive ISIS conspiracy involving recruitment, training, and the propagation of the Islamic State of Iraq and Syria (ISIS) ideology among gullible youth, along with the fabrication of explosives and IEDs, and fundraising for the banned outfit.

Military reforms: Joint training wing initiates first course at Staff College

MAYANK SINGH @New Delhi

REFORMS towards jointness in the Indian military reached another milestone on Monday with a new training wing beginning its course to train officers at the grassroots level. A small number of selected officers for the first time were put under the newly created joint training team at the Defence Services Staff College (DSSC). "Around 40 trainee officers will be directly under the newly created head of the joint training team appointed recently," said a defence source.

A commandant is the head of the DSSC who till recently anchored three verticals each helmed by the chief instructor (CI) of Major General level officer. Recently a brigadier-level joint training officer has been appointed heading the joint training. "As the triservices posting has already begun, this step is aimed at taking the joint training at the grassroots level," said the source.

Lt Gen Virendra Vats, Commandant, DSSC

The genesis is rooted in the first triservices conference 'Parivartan Chintan' held under the Chief of Defence Staff General Anil Chauhan in April. Jointness and integration are the cornerstones of transformation to joint structures towards which the Indian armed forces are progressing with the intention of being "future ready".

The Ministry of Defence (MoD) on Monday stated the first-of-its-kind initiative is a specially curated curriculum for a select group of student-officers from the Indian Army, Navy, Air Force, and friendly foreign countries.

"The curriculum would foster a collaborative and inter-service approach to jointness and integration in warfare and focus on inter-service understanding at this early stage in their careers, thus empowering them to lead the way in the upcoming era of Theatre Commands." MoD said. This year's course is the 80th staff course that commenced on Monday in Wellington, Tamil Nadu. The college established in 1905 has courses designed to train mid-career officers from the Army, Navy, and Air Force to become proficient staff officers and future military leaders.

In his address to the student officers, Lt Gen Virendra Vats, Commandant, DSSC, highlighted the critical role of synergy and integration among the Army, Navy, and Air Force and underscored the importance of understanding the unique capabilities of each service.

27-yr-old daughter of Maha IAS couple dies by suicide

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @Mumbai

THE 27-year-old daughter of a senior IAS couple died after jumping off a high-rise building, Suniti Apartment, at Nariman Point in Mumbai early Monday morning.

Lipi Rastogi, the daughter of Maharashtra cadre IAS officers Vikas and Radhika Rastogi, jumped from the 10th floor of the officer's flat at around 4:00 am, near Mantralaya (state secretariat). A guard posted at the building informed Lipi's family after finding her lying unconscious on a motorbike parked near the premises. She was rushed to GT Hospital, where she was pronounced dead.

A suicide note found in Lipi's room, which is part of the police investigation, indicated that she held no one responsible for her decision. The police have registered a case of unnatural death at the Cuffe Parade police station and initiated an investigation. According to the police, Lipi was under immense pressure regarding her academic performance, leading to her distress.

Lipi was pursuing an LLB degree from OP Jindal Global University in Sonepat, Haryana. Police officers believe she was anxious about her exams and whether she would achieve the same level of success as her parents. Lipi had completed her BA from St. Xavier's College in Mumbai.

Her LinkedIn profile revealed that Lipi was a former marketing professional with a background in handling luxury beauty brands. She had previously worked with Unilever and Nykaa.

Central forces to stay in violence-hit Bengal till June 19 as situation tense

Section 144 imposed in 17 pockets of Sandeshkhali, additional security personnel deployed

SULAGNA SENGUPTA @Kolkata

A day after a BJP worker was hacked to death at Nadia in Krishnanagar constituency in West Bengal and prohibitory orders under Section 144 were imposed at 17 pockets at Sandeshkhali, the situation remained tense in all the constituencies before the poll verdict day.

Sources in the Election Commission said 400 companies of additional Central Armed Police will be deployed till June 19 to curb post-poll violence in the state. The EC has arranged a three-tier security measure outside every counting centre, with 92 companies of central forces along with 2,525 personnel of the state police.

In Kaliganj, Hafijul Sheikh was shot at and then hacked twice allegedly by Trinamool activists. His was decapitated and his body was taken away. When the incident happened, Sheikh was having tea at a local tea shop, which was a stone's throw from his house.

BJP Krishnanagar candidate Amrita Roy rushed to the spot on Sunday. "I knew about Hafijul joining our party. It is repulsing to see someone's head being taken away. This is sadism and perversion," Roy said.

Hafijul was earlier with the CPM and joined the BJP ahead of the Lok Sabha polls.

Meanwhile, Sandeshkhali was on the boil with women protesting and preventing the Central forces, police and RAF from entering Sandeshkhali to arrest a person linked to Saturday's violence.

Fresh trouble erupted in the area with police entering the villages in Sandeshkhali's Agarhati, along with CAPF and RAF on Sunday afternoon, and conducting raids. The women claimed they were beaten up. The women surrounded the police vehicle and prevented the arrest of a BJP worker by dragging him out of the police van.

In separate incidents, CPM workers were attacked in various parts of Jadavpur constituency. A CPM worker was allegedly attacked by Trinamool miscreants and her nose was punched. She received an injury in her chest. Blasts were reported in two locations in Barrackpore constituency, including in front of the residence of BJP candidate Arjun Singh's polling agent.

CPM candidate of Jadavpur Srijan Bhattacharya said "Our workers were being threatened by TMC workers in various areas. We have already complained to the Election Commission and informed the police. But the police have failed to take any action against the accused."

However, TMC leader Shantanu Sen refuted the allegations and said attempts were being made to tarnish the party image ahead of the verdict day. Governor C V Ananda Bose on Sunday said he was worried after getting reports about post-poll violence in Sandeshkhali, and asked Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee to intervene immediately and restore peace there.

Bose announced that a peace room at Raj Bhavan would be open 24x7 to receive complaints about violence.

Once again, anxiety grips C'garh after month-long wait for results

EJAZ KAISER @ Raipur

THE 2024 Lok Sabha polls were fifth for Chhattisgarh after it came into existence in November 2000 and the people of the state, like the previous four elections, had to wait for nearly a month for the results.

The parliamentary polls for 11 seats in the state this year were held in three-phases on April 19, April 26 and May 7.

As per the official data, the voter turnout in the state rose by 1.31% compared to the 2019 elections when the polling percentage was 71.49%.

With BJP apparently seen to have a clear edge over Congress in Chhattisgarh, a degree of disquiet prevails among the voters over which party might gain or lose. The majority of exit polls have predicted a big win for the BJP.

In the largely bipolar contested Lok Sabha (LS) elections, the BJP consistently increased its vote share and trounced the Congress by winning ten of the 11 seats from 1998 onwards barring the 2019 elections when it won from nine constituencies.

The electoral scale too was found tilted in favour of BJP in four Scheduled Tribe (ST) and one Scheduled Caste (SC) reserved seats. The BJP has always been winning the reserved constituencies and lost Bastar seat only once in 2019.

Ahead of counting of votes, the BJP enthused with the pollsters' prediction is claiming to win all 11 seats, while the Congress cited the exit polls as delusion and asserted the party will create a history by securing a much better performance than all the Lok Saha polls held earlier.

BJP's campaign was based on 'Modi Ki Guarantee' and good governance of Vishnu Deo Sai government in the state, while the Congress relied on five Nyay and 25 guarantees as it attacked the saffron party on the issue of reservations and the Constitution.

The trends in all previous Lok Sabha polls in Chhattisgarh showed the BJP, besides maintaining an upper hand, had also increased its vote share.

In 2009 parliamentary elections that saw 56.3% voter turnout, the BJP's share was 45%, while the Congress that won only one seat could get 37.3 % of the total votes. In 2014, the share of BJP vote percentage was 49.7 while of the Congress 39.1 %.

In 2019, there was again a difference of almost 10 % between the two national parties with BJP (50.7) winning nine seats and Congress (40.9) in remaining two.

Since 2000

This year's polls were fifth for the state which was carved out of Madhya Pradesh in November 2000 and the people like the previous four elections had to wait for nearly a month for the results. The parliamentary elections for the 11 seats in the state were held in three-phases — on April 19, April 26 and May 7. In the largely bipolar elections, the BJP consistently increased its vote share from 1998.

BJP confident of a clean sweep in MP, Congress pins hopes on 8-10 seats

ANURAAG SINGH @ Bhopal

THE stage is set for Tuesday's counting of votes polled in four phases for the 29 Lok Sabha seats in Madhya Pradesh. Ahead of the counting of votes, both political camps—the ruling BJP and opposition Congress—are confident about their prospects.

While the BJP is confident of winning all 29 seats, including Chhindwara (Kamal Nath's stronghold, which was the lone seat won by Congress in the 2019 polls, the state Congress is optimistic about winning 8-10 seats. However, ground reports from the state's 55 districts indicate interesting contests between the BJP and Congress for eight to ten seats, including Chhindwara, Mandla-ST, Sidhi, Satna, Gwalior, Morena, Bhind-SC, Khargone, and Ratlam.

Tuesday's counting will also decide the fate of political heavyweights, including two former CMs: Shivraj Singh Chouhan (BJP) from his old seat Vidisha and Digvijaya Singh (Congress) from his home seat Rajgarh. It will also affect union ministers Jyotiraditya Scindia (Guna), Faggan Singh Kulaste (Mandla-ST), and Virendra Khatik (Tikamgarh-SC).

Chouhan, contesting from the Vidisha LS seat after two decades, is expected to win by a large margin against Congress veteran Pratap Bhanu Sharma. Singh, however, is in a tough battle against second-time BJP MP Rodmal Nagar from Rajgarh, despite the sitting MP facing high anti-incumbency in the RSS stronghold.

Among the three union ministers in fray, six-times winner Faggan Singh Kulaste is facing a tough battle against fourth-time Congress MLA and ex-MP minister Omkar Singh Markam, while Jyotiraditya Scindia is believed to have an edge against old BJP family son and Congress candidate Rao Yadvendra Singh Yadav from Guna seat which Scindia had failed to retain as Congress candidate in 2019.

Chouhan expected to win

Tuesday's counting will also decide the fate of political heavyweights. Shivraj Singh Chouhan contesting from the Vidisha LS seat after two decades, is expected to win by a large margin against Congress veteran Pratap Bhanu Sharma. It will also affect union ministers Jyotiraditya Scindia (Guna), Faggan Kulaste (Mandla-ST)

SOUNDS ALARM

BJP may influence outcome in many UP seats: Akhilesh

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

CLAIMING that the country would be free from negative powers after the counting of votes on Tuesday, Samajwadi Party chief Akhilesh Yadav questioned the 10-year rule of the Modi government by raising a slew of issues here on Monday.

Interacting with media persons just a day ahead of the results of Lok Sabha elections 2024, the SP chief expressed doubt that the ruling BJP could influence the counting process by delaying it until late evening and altering the results under darkness by effecting power outage.

Referring to the electoral irregularities allegedly committed in the past during the Chandigarh Mayoral polls, which witnessed court intervention, the SP chief said, "The people of the country are agitated. They are ready to start a new freedom struggle to save the future of the country on the lines of Mahatma Gandhi's call for 'Do or Die'. People are prepared to make sacrifices as under the BJP rule, life has become very difficult," said the SP chief.

Raising questions on the authenticity of exit poll figures related to the 2024 Lok Sabha elections while rejecting them, the SP chief said that it was only an effort to create an atmosphere in favour of the BJP. He also accused the firms conducting exit polls of being involved in managing the polling booths for the ruling party. He reiterated that the internal survey of the Samajwadi Party indicated maximum seats for the INDIA bloc in Uttar Pradesh.

He expressed hope that the Election Commission of India would ensure compliance with all the rules and regulations besides ensuring the security of counting agents of the stakeholders while claiming that upon witnessing defeat, BJP could indulge in the intimidation of the counting agents of rivals through misuse of government machinery. Akhilesh launched a blistering attack on the ruling party, saying that the 'false nationalism' of the BJP had damaged the country a lot.

"It has spoiled social harmony leading to caste and community conflicts. A conspiracy has been hatched to do away with the provision of reservation guaranteed by the Constitution of India," said the SP chief. Raising the issue of unemployment, Akhilesh, while reading out a statement, said that ruing party had cheated the youth of the country. It got the papers of the entrance test of recruitment drives leaked handing out a bleak future to jobless youngsters.

Results to be unlike exit poll: Sonia

Congress leader Sonia Gandhi on Monday said her party is very hopeful that the results of the Lok Sabha elections will be opposite to what has been shown in the exit polls. "We have to wait, and see," Sonia Gandhi said. The Congress and other INDIA bloc parties have trashed exit polls, claiming these surveys were a work of "fantasy" and asserting that the opposition will win

Raj seat loss can widen rift within BJP against fledgling Sharma govt

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

THE exit polls have indicated a comfortable victory for the BJP nationally but in the party's Rajasthan unit there are growing worries that the saffron brigade will not be able to register the clean sweep which it registered in the state in 2014 and in 2019.

Speculation is rife that a BJP defeat in Rajasthan could cause significant upheaval within the party, especially for newly-appointed CM Bhajan Lal Sharma. In the last two elections, the BJP won all 25 seats in Rajasthan, but the exit polls now suggest the opposition may capture three-four seats in the state, marking a major setback for the Congress, which lost power in the state last winter.

Among the ten-odd seats where the BJP is said to be in trouble, Barmer is a major battleground. Exit polls show a tough fight between Congress candidate Ummedaram Beniwal and independent candidate Ravindra Singh Bhati, with BJP's Kailash Choudhary possibly finishing third. Similarly, the Dausa seat presents a critical challenge for the BJP, with a fierce contest between Congress's Murarilal Meena and BJP's Kanhaiyalal Meena, both prominent leaders from the same community. Additionally, Vaibhav Gehlot, son of former Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot, has mounted a strong campaign from the Jalore-Sirohi seat against BJP's Lumbaram Chaudhary.

The Churu Lok Sabha seat is another area of concern for the BJP, facing internal strife for the first time. The party replaced MP Rahul Kaswan with Paralympic player Devendra Jhajharia due to rivalry with powerful leader Rajendra Rathore. Kaswan, running on a Congress ticket, has challenged Jhajharia and Rathore, capitalizing on voter sympathy.

Barmer is a major battle. Exit polls show a tough fight between Congress's Ummedaram Beniwal and independent Ravindra Singh Bhati, with BJP's Kailash Choudhary possibly finishing third

Challenge in Kota

Another crucial seat where the BJP is said to be facing a serious challenge is Kota where Lok Sabha Speaker Om Birla is pitted against Congress' Prahlad Gunjal. The Churu seat is another area of concern

NEW HOPES

Kashmir results may redraw political alignments, hasten assembly elections

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

THE first Lok Sabha polls in Jammu and Kashmir after the abrogation of Article 370 are crucial for the region. The election results may necessitate a change in political strategy, lead to the emergence of new political equations, and determine the fate of Assembly polls in the Union Territory.

Jammu and Kashmir comprise five parliamentary seats—Udhampur and Jammu in the Jammu region, and Srinagar, Baramulla, and Anantnag-Rajouri in the Valley. In the 2019 polls, the BJP won both seats in the Jammu region, while the NC secured all three Valley seats.

After over three decades of militancy, people in Kashmir turned out in large numbers to vote. J&K witnessed a combined poll percentage of 58.11% for the five parliamentary seats, marking the highest voter turnout in the last 35 years.

TARIQ STUDIO

As the counting of votes takes place on Tuesday, it is the D-day for contesting candidates and parties alike. The fate of 100 candidates, including Union Minister Dr. Jitendra Singh and two former CMs, Omar Abdullah and Mehbooba Mufti, hangs in the balance.

Unlike 2019, when there was a Modi wave, this time the BJP is facing a serious challenge in the Udhampur seat. Union MoS PMO Dr. Jitendra Singh had won the Udhampur seat in 2019 by over 3.57 lakh votes. However, this time, even if he manages to overcome strong anti-incumbency and win, the margin of victory will likely be less.

For the three Valley seats, it will be either NC winning all three or NC securing two and PDP one. Since both NC and PDP are part of the INDIA alliance, the three seats in both scenarios will go to the INDIA alliance.

This marks the first major electoral exercise in J&K post Article 370 abrogation. If BJP loses any of the two seats or if its victory margin in both or any of the two seats decreases, it will force the party to reconsider its political strategy in the UT ahead of assembly polls.

Large turnout

After over three decades of militancy, people in Kashmir turned out in large numbers to vote. J&K witnessed a combined poll percentage of 58.11% for the five parliamentary seats, marking the highest voter turnout in the last 35 years. As the counting of votes takes place on Tuesday, it is the D-day for contesting candidates and parties alike

NDA has edge in most of 25 Northeast seats

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

THE BJP-led National Democratic Alliance (NDA) is expected to win a majority of the seats in the Northeast when the results of Lok Sabha elections are declared on Tuesday, exit polls indicated.

The region has 25 seats – 14 in Assam, two each in Manipur, Tripura, Meghalaya and Arunachal Pradesh and one each in Nagaland, Mizoram and Sikkim. The BJP rules Assam, Arunachal, Tripura and Manipur and is a component of ruling coalitions in Nagaland and Meghalaya.

In 2019, the NDA bagged 19 seats—14 by BJP and 5 by its allies. The Congress had won four seats. Two seats went to others.

The Northeast went to polls amidst the ethnic conflict between Meiteis and Kuki-Zo tribals in Manipur. There was simmering anger among the voters in the state against the BJP over how it handled the situation. The NDA faced a challenge, particularly in the Meitei-majority Inner Manipur seat which the BJP contested.

The BJP had fielded a minister, Thounaojam Basanta Kumar Singh, in the seat. He vied against Jawaharlal Nehru University professor Angomcha Bimol Akoijam of the Congress.

The BJP had opted out of the race in the Scheduled Tribe-reserved Outer Manipur seat and instead, allowed ally Naga People's Front (NPF) to contest. The constituency witnessed a triangular fight among NPF, Congress and an independent. Not many Kuki-Zo tribals had turned up to vote.

The polls elsewhere in the Northeast were not significantly impacted by the Manipur violence. The states had local issues apart from the ubiquitous price rise and unemployment.

All eyes will be on Assam on Tuesday. The BJP, in all probability, will win most of the seats. The Congress' hopes hinge on Jorhat, Nagaon, Karimganj and Dhubri seats.

The Congress' Gaurav Gogoi contested from Jorhat. The BJP went all guns blazing to defeat him. It had laid its focus especially on the tea garden voters after observing that the Assamese voters got polarised in Gogoi's favour.

The result in Dhubri, which is a Muslim-majority seat, will shape the future of All India United Democratic Front (AIUDF) and Congress in lower Assam. Three-time sitting MP and AIUDF chief Maulana Badruddin Ajmal had taken on the Congress' Rakibul Hussain, a former minister.

The AIUDF is influential in the migrant Muslim areas of lower, central and southern Assam but its popularity has somewhat waned in recent years. If Ajmal wins, it will keep the AIUDF afloat in the 2026 state elections. Defeat might impact the party seriously.

The Congress had been influential in Dhubri and the adjoining Goalpara and Barpeta districts for decades. Then, it slowly lost the space to the AIUDF when it emerged as a powerhouse. If Hussain wins, it could well be the first step for the Congress towards regaining the lost ground in lower Assam.

FIRST WOMAN TO BECOME MEXICO PREZ IN 200 YRS

Claudia Sheinbaum takes office on Oct 1, has to tackle pressing gender-related issues

MEXICO CITY

MEXICO's projected presidential winner Claudia Sheinbaum will become the first woman president in the country's 200-year history.

The climate scientist and former Mexico City mayor said that her two competitors had called her and conceded her victory. "I will become the first woman president of Mexico," Sheinbaum said with a smile, speaking at a downtown hotel shortly after electoral authorities announced a statistical sample showed she held an irreversible lead.

"I don't make it alone. We've all made it, with our heroines who gave us our homeland, with our mothers, our daughters and our granddaughters."

"We have demonstrated that Mexico is a democratic country with peaceful elections," she said. The governing party candidate campaigned on continuing the political course set over the last six years by her political mentor President Andr's Manuel L'pez Obrador.

His anointed successor, the 61-year-old Sheinbaum led the campaign wire-to-wire. This was the first time in Mexico that the two main opponents were women.

Claudia Sheinbaum

Sheinbaum is unlikely to enjoy the kind of unquestioning devotion that L'pez Obrador has enjoyed. Both belong to the governing Morena party.

Sheinbaum's victory is seen as a turning point in a mostly conservative nation that for more than two centuries has been exclusively ruled by men.

Mexican women won the right to vote in 1953. No law prevented female candidates from holding office, but sexism and 'macho' culture continue to permeate the country of 129 million people. Prior to the current presidential race, during which Sheinbaum maintained a comfortable lead against opposition candidate X'chitl G'lvez, only two women had officially sought Mexico's presidency. Both failed.

Women currently lead some key Mexican institutions, such as the Senate, the Supreme Court and the National Electoral Institute. Mexico ranks third among Latin American nations with the most women in the national Cabinet 44% 'and has 10 female governors among its 32 states.

In some Indigenous villages, though, men still hold the power. Among the issues that Mexican women face are femicide, or women killed because of their gender, a gender employment gap and inadequate policies guaranteeing sexual and reproductive rights.

Sheinbaum, 61, will need to address these after she takes office on Oct 1. Demonstrations on International Women's Day on March 8 are painful reminders that many Mexican women disappear or are killed on a daily basis. AP

At least 10 killed in Sri Lankan mudslides, floods, schools shut

COLOMBO: Sri Lanka closed schools on Monday as heavy rain triggered floods and mudslides in many parts of the island nation, leaving at least 10 people dead and six others missing, officials said. The education ministry announced that the reopening of schools would depend on how the weather develops. Heavy downpours have wreaked havoc in many parts of the country since Sunday, flooding homes, fields and roads, and forcing authorities to cut electricity as a precaution. Six people died after being washed away and drowning in the capital, Colombo, and the remote Rathnapura district on Sunday, according to the disaster management centre. Three others died when mounds of earth collapsed on their houses, and one person died when a tree fell on him.

Israeli bombardment in central Gaza leaves 11 dead

GAZA STRIP

PALESTINIAN health officials said Israeli strikes killed 11 people overnight into Monday, including a woman and three children, in central Gaza. A strike on a home in the built-up Bureij refugee camp late Sunday killed four people, including the three children. A second strike early Monday killed seven people, including a woman, in the Nuseirat camp.

The bombardments come days after US President Joe Biden said Israel has offered Hamas a three-phase ceasefire and hostage release deal, declaring it was time to end the fighting in Gaza and that Hamas is "no longer capable" of carrying out another large-scale attack.

Israel is expanding its offensive in the southern Gaza city of Rafah, once the main hub of humanitarian aid operations. The Israeli invasion has largely cut off the flow of food, medicine and other supplies to Palestinians facing widespread hunger. Israel faces growing international criticism over the huge cost in civilian lives and the widespread destruction caused by its nearly eight-month war with Hamas.

Meanwhile displaced Gazans had to use empty plastic bottles on Monday to try to remove sewage from their tents after a pipeline burst in the main southern city of Khan Yunis. "All the tents were flooded with sewage water. This is no life," said Abdullah Barbakh, surrounded by bombed out buildings in the Palestinian city which has been devastated by months of war. AP/AFP

PSU, Adani stocks lead rally ahead of LS poll results

Adani Group stocks gain up to 16%; public sector Power Grid, NTPC, SBI, and ONGC are top peformers on BSE and NSE indices

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

PUBLIC sector undertaking (PSU) and the Adani Group stocks were in demand on Monday as investors are anticipating big returns from these two categories in the next 5 years after exit poll results predicted a third term for Prime Minister Narendra Modi and his BJP-led NDA alliance.

The demand for PSU scrips was such that four of the top six Nifty50 gainers - Power Grid, NTPC, SBI, and ONGC – were a government undertaking. The other two top gainers were Adani Ports & Special Economic Zone and Adani Enterprises Ltd. "Adani Group stocks moved sharply higher on positive sentiment emanating from a probable victory of the ruling government in general elections. Apart from the sentimental reaction, we believe that Adani Group stocks have got their mojo back following Hindenburg allegations at the start of 2023. The Group has consciously worked on reducing its debt levels and pledged shares, reflecting in the current cumulative market cap of Group companies crossing the highs of January 2023" said Manish Chowdhury, Head of Research at StoxBox.

Amit Goel, co-founder and chief global strategist at Pace 360 said that the Adani Group has established itself as a stand-in for the Modi government's aspirations to build top-notch infrastructure in India, thanks to its holdings in the nation's ports, airports, and power-producing companies. Goel added that Modi government's initiatives to outrun China by bolstering India's manufacturing and infrastructure have given industrial stocks a boost.

Adani Group stocks gained up to 16% on Monday and the group's market capitalisation at ₹19.42 lakh crore surpassed the pre-Hindenburg level. The stock of Adani Power zoomed 15.64% on the BSE while that of Adani Ports rallied 10.25%. Eight other listed Adani Cos gained 3.5-9.5% on Monday. In contrast, frontline indexes - NSE Nifty and BSE Sensex - gained 3.3-3.4% on Monday.

Among the PSU stocks, the Nifty PSU bank index surged 8.40% to close at 8,006 points with all its 12 constituents clocking gain. Bank of Baroda rallied 12.08% while the State Bank of India settled 9.48% higher. SBI also became the first public sector bank to have a market cap of Rs 8 lakh crore.

Nifty CPSE indices jumped 471.90 points or 7.16% to end at 7,059.80 points, with NTPC climbing 9.33%, Power Grid gaining 9.03% and Bharat Electronics (BEL) surging 8.06%.

MARKET MOVEMENT
ON ELECTION RESULT DAY

1999 when Atal Bihari Vajpayee formed government: Nifty rose 1.06% on the result day

2004 when UPA came to power: Nifty fell 12.24% on election result day. The next day it gained 8.3%

2009 when UPA retained power: Since the vote counting day was Saturday, Nifty rose 17.74% on Monday, the first trading session after the results. The next day it fell by 0.11%

2014 when BJP-led NDA clinched victory: Nifty ended higher by 1.12%. Next day it rallied another 0.84%

2019 when BJP-led NDA improved its seat tally: Nifty closed result day 0.69% lower but recovered 1.6% the next day

SBI becomes sixth most valuable company; m-cap soars to ₹8L cr

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

COUNTRY'S largest lender State Bank of India on Monday became the sixth biggest company in terms of market capitalisation with over ₹8 trillion (₹8 lakh cr) in value and the only public sector entity to become so, which also make it the most valued government entity and the third most valuable bank.

At the end of trading hours on Monday, a day when the market was on a steroids after exit polls gave a clear third term to Narendra Modi, with the Sensex rallying by 3.4% and the Nifty soaring by 2.35%, the SBI counter closed at 905.80 on the BSE, gaining as much as 9.12% over Friday's close with a m-cap of ₹8,08390.27 crore or ₹8.08 trillion. The stock rallied more than 12% intra-day to hit a high of ₹912.10. Its shares have soared over 40% so far this year.

Earlier last month SBI also made history by becoming the most profitable company in the March quarter booking a whopping ₹20,968 crore in net income, which is way higher than RIL, HDFC Bank and TCS, the otherwise most profitable entities. The other six are Reliance Industries (₹20.44 trillion), Tata Consultancy Services (₹13.41 trillion) HDFC Bank (₹11.95 trillion), ICICI Bank (₹8.15 trillion) and Bharti Airtel (₹8.05 trillion), are the other with over ₹8 trillion m-cap. Infosys was also in Rs 8 trillion clud in the past but has since lost a lot of its value is only worth ₹5.83 trillion now.

Among the public sector block, LIC is the second biggest by far away from SBI with ₹6.75 trillion m-cap, followed by NTPC at ₹380,062.16, ONGC at ₹3.57 trillion, and Powergrid at ₹3.14 trillion.

Banking stocks were on a roll on Monday as exit polls predicted sweeping win for the BJP, with other stocks like BoB, IDBI Bank ICICI, HDFC Indusind etc gaining handsomely. After the stellar March quarter earnings, most brokerages have a buy call on SBI with over 30 percent upside in the medium term.

Sebi updates app to fight against misinformation

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

CAPITAL market regulator Sebi has launched a mobile app to prevent flooding of misleading and biased information about markets/stocks, which also doubles up as a user-friendly interface with comprehensive tools aimed at simplifying complex financial concepts.

The Securities and Exchange Board (Sebi) in a statement on Monday said mobile app Saarthi2 is updated version of the Saarthi app, which was introduced earlier as a user-friendly interface with comprehensive tools aimed at simplifying complex financial concepts.

The new app includes financial calculators, and has modules that introduce and explain KYC procedures, mutual funds, exchange traded funds, buying and selling shares on stock exchanges, an investor grievances redressal mechanism, and an online dispute resolution platform, Sebi whole-time member Ananth Narayan G said while launching the app.

That apart, the app features a range of videos designed to assist investors in their personal finance planning.

"In today's era, where social media provides biased or misleading information, there is a need for an unbiased, objective, and trusted source of investment information. Saarthi app serves this purpose by empowering investors with reliable and essential insights into the securities market. This tool can be especially useful for young investors who are at the beginning of their financial journey," Narayan said. The app has a dynamic content, allowing one to keep pace with the rapidly evolving market conditions, he said, and sought public suggestions to further refine and enhance the app so that it continues to serve investors, he said. The app is available for download on Google Play Store and the iOS App Store.

2K freshers await onboarding as Infy delays joining date

UMA KANNAN @Bengaluru

IT'S been two years since Krishna (name changed) from Telangana received an offer letter from Infosys for 'System Engineer' position with a package of ₹3.6 lakh per annum. He was in his final year of engineering and got a selection letter from the company in April 2022.

He received an offer letter in December 2022 saying he could join Infosys Mysore campus from February 2023. "Again, I received an email saying that they have extended my joining month to May 2023. I believed that I would be joining Infosys and rejected two other offers that I received from other companies. Till now I did not get any clarification from Infosys. Whenever I mail, I receive a system generated mail saying that I would be onboarded based on business requirement. I am still unemployed," he said.

Over 2,000 campus recruits are waiting to be onboarded, according to Nascent Information Technology Employees Senate (NITES). It has urged the Ministry of Labour and Employment to investigate Infosys for repeatedly delaying the onboarding. "These delays, which have persisted for more than two years, have caused significant hardship for the affected employees. Many had turned down other job offers in good faith, relying on Infosys's offer letters. Now, they face financial hardship and uncertainty due to the lack of income and a clear onboarding timeline," said Harpreet Singh Saluja, President, NITES.

An email sent to Infosys did not elicit any response. However, in the company's annual report, CEO Salil Parekh has mentioned that the company has recruited nearly 11,900 college graduates in 2023-2024. This is a 76% drop compared to the previous year as the company hired about 50,000 freshers in FY23.

Saubhik Bhattacharya, General Secretary, All India IT and ITeS Employees' Union, told this newspaper that when a student is hired from campus, the university or college disallows him/her from participating in sequential recruitment drives. "Making these fresh candidates wait for more than a year to get a joining date, makes their lives miserable."

FSSAI aks food cos to remove '100% Fruit Juice' claims from labels, ads

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

THE Food Safety and Standards Authority of India (FSSAI) on Monday issued a directive requiring food business operators (FBOs) to eliminate mention of '100% fruit juices' from labels and advertisements of reconstituted fruit juices.

This directive comes into immediate effect, with FBOs instructed to utilise their current pre-printed packaging materials by September 1, 2024.

"It has come to the attention of FSSAI that several FBOs have been inaccurately marketing various types of reconstituted fruit juices by claiming them to be 100% fruit juices.

Upon examination, FSSAI has concluded that, as per the Food Safety and Standards (Advertising and Claims) Regulations, 2018, there is no provision for making '100%' claim," FSSAI said in a statement.

Such claims are misleading, particularly under conditions where the major ingredient of the fruit juice is water and the primary ingredient, for which the claim is made, is present only in limited concentrations, or when the fruit juice is reconstituted using water and fruit concentrates or pulp, it added.

The FSSAI has emphasised the adherence of FBOs to the standards outlined in sub-regulation 2.3.6 of the Food Safety and Standards (Food Products Standards & Food Additives) Regulation, 2011 regarding the marketing of reconstituted fruit juices as '100% fruit juices'. FBOs are reminded to label products in line with the Food Safety and Standards (Labelling and Display) Regulations, 2020, including the mention of "reconstituted" in the ingredient list for juices made from concentrate.

Mother Dairy, Amul raise prices to offset costs

MONIKA YADAV @New Delhi

AMID heat stress, even leading dairy companies are facing low milk supplies, which is forcing them to increase prices. In a recent development, Mother Dairy announced a ₹2 per litre hike in milk prices across all operating markets, effective from Monday, June 3. This decision follows Amul's recent increase in rates, indicating a trend in the dairy industry.

In its statement, Mother Dairy said it has increased milk prices to offset production costs that have been rising for over a year. In the Delhi-NCR region, Mother Dairy has set the price of full cream milk at ₹68 per litre. Toned milk is priced at ₹56 per litre, while double-toned milk is priced at ₹50 per litre.

Furthermore, buffalo milk and cow milk prices have been increased to ₹72 and ₹58 per litre, respectively.

"Despite paying higher prices towards milk procurement in the last few months, the consumer prices were kept intact. Moreover, the heat stress across the country has been unprecedented and it is likely to further impact milk production," the company said in a statement. The company explained that despite the increase in farm prices, only a portion of it has been transferred to consumers, leading to an overall price revision of 3-4%. This strategy is designed to maintain a balance between the interests of milk producers and consumers. Meanwhile, the Gujarat Cooperative Milk Marketing Federation (GCMMF), known for the Amul brand, has also increased milk prices by around ₹2 per litre, effective from Monday, June 3.

This adjustment applies to various variants, with prices now set at ₹36 for 500 ml of Amul buffalo milk, ₹33 for 500 ml of Amul Gold milk, and ₹30 for 500 ml of Amul Shakti milk.

"The price revision shall help in sustaining remunerative milk prices to our milk producers and to encourage them for higher milk production," GCMMF said in a statement. The effect of this hike could be seen across price rise in confectionery and other dairy products.

IT INDUSTRY REMUNERATION

Infosys CEO Parekh took home ₹66.3 cr in FY24

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @Bengaluru

INFOSYS CEO and MD Salil Parekh's annual compensation increased 17% to ₹66.25 crore in FY24, as per the company's annual report. He is the second highest paid CEO in Indian IT industry after Wipro's former CEO Thierry Delaporte, who earned ₹166 crore in FY24.

Parekh's compensation was 677 times that of an average salary of an Infosys employee. The average annual increase in the salaries of employees was 9% in India and the MRE (median remuneration of employees) was ₹9,77,868 in FY24 compared to ₹9,00,012 in FY23.

After receiving an annual payment of ₹71.02 crore in FY22, Parekh's salary fell 21% to ₹56.44 crore in FY23 as he exercised fewer RSUs (Restricted stock units) compared to last fiscal. Parekh's FY24 remuneration includes ₹39.03 crore pertaining to exercise of 2,58,636 RSUs under the 2015 Plan and 32,447 RSUs under the 2019 Plan during fiscal 2024.

Its chairman and non-executive and non-independent director (promoter) Nandan M Nilekani voluntarily chose not to receive any remuneration for his services rendered to the company. In the annual report, Nilekani said, "The Gen AI revolution presents an unrivaled opportunity. The flux of change as the whole technological landscape is being reset will create many large openings. Packaged solutions will be reimagined, and we will see a resurgence of custom-built solutions that must be enabled with new types of AI building blocks."

He added that global firms will have to build their AI applications in a way that they are compliant in every country. "While application can be trialled on very large models, deployment will be on narrow transformers, trained on relevant enterprise data, fully secure and efficient in their inferencing," he added.

In his letter to the shareholder, the CEO informed that the firm is working on several projects with clients to help them benefit from generative AI. "These projects are in software engineering, process optimisation, customer support, advisory services, as well as sales and marketing," he added.

Shriram Fin raises $468 mn in multi-currency social loan

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

SHRIRAM Finance, the largest vehicle funding-focused non-bank, has raised $468 million in multi-currency social loan from overseas lenders, making it the largest-ever syndicated debt external commercial borrowing by a domestic non-bank.

In a statement on Monday, the Shriram group flagship said the syndicated term loan includes a 425 million in USD and 40 million in euros, and is its largest syndicated loan transaction. Earlier it had raised $404 million.

The three-year forex laon facility is structured as a social loan and has been anchored by the French lender BNP Paribas, the Singaporean lender DBS Bank, the British banking major Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation and the Japanese bank Sumitomo Mitsui Banking Corporation.

This base amount of this multi-currency deal was $200 million with a green-shoe option but since the transaction had a bumper response from syndication market, the final lender group expanded to 16 lenders from across the world-- Europe, the US, North Asia, Southeast Asia, the Middle East and Mauritius--offering $468 million equivalent, it said.

Shriram Finance offers commercial vehicles, two-wheeler loans, car loans, home loans, gold loans, personal and small business loans. As of march 2024 its loan book stood at ₹2,24,862 crore. Its executive vice-chairman Umesh Revankar told TNIE in a recent interview that he expected 15% growth in fresh loan sales this fiscal.

"Being a social loan this reflects our commitment to social impact similar to our priority sector initiatives, with certain strict exclusions," Revankar siad.

97.82% of 2000 notes back to system: RBI

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @Mumbai

THE Reserve Bank said as much as 97.82% of the 2000 denomination banknotes, which were withdrawn from circulation form May 19, 2023, has come back to the system, leaving the outstanding value of these currency noted at ₹7,755 crore as of May 31.

As of May 19,2023, total value of 2000 banknotes in circulation was ₹3.56 lakh crore. The monetary authority hurriedly introduced the 2000 notes after the note-ban that the Modi government announced on May 8, 2016, with the first stated objective of eliminating black money and then the goalposts kept on changing and ended up a means to push digital payments.

The announcement saw the government cacelling the legal tender nature of the 1,000 and 500 notes, which had then constituted about 87% of the currency in circulation.

India and Maharashtra batter Kedar Jadhav on Monday announced his retirement from international cricket, four years since his last appearance for the country. "Thank you all For your love and support throughout my Career from 1500 hrs. Consider me as retired from all forms of cricket," wrote Jadhav on X.

SOUTH AFRICA WIN IN NY BUT CONDITIONS APPLY

On a two-paced wicket, Proteas pacers run through Lankan line-up

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN

South Africa's Anrich Nortje celebrates a Sri Lanka wicket with his teammate | AFP

SOUTH Africa served a warning shot to the other title contenders as they ran through Sri Lanka to seal a six-wicket win on a warm early New York day. With the caveat that the Proteas are generally various shades of outstanding in the preliminary stages of a global ICC event, this performance was even beyond their wildest dreams.

On a wicket that wouldn't have been out of place in South Africa, the pop up 35,000 seater in Nassau County was treated to some fine first session of a Test match kind of bowling. It was fast, there was some movement off the surface and the bounce was more of the tennis ball variety.

The likes of Kagiso Rabada, Marco Jansen, Ottneil Baartman and Anrich Nortje — full marks to the management for eschewing the option of playing a second spinner — made the Lankan batters hop, skip, jump as well as fish outside the off stump with some teasing lines. Even though there was help on offer in terms of movement and bounce, they stuck to the basics. The end result was the 2014 champions being bowled out for 77 in 19.1 overs. One thing that really helped the foursome was the height. All of them are comfortably over 5'10" and the Lankan batters failed to adjust to the natural extra lift they were getting off the deck.

Saying that, the Lankan batters didn't help themselves as they didn't show the necessary application needed in bowling-friendly conditions. While taking on a game is well and good, the intent and execution has to be seamless. Here, it was anything but. They lost more than half their side to catches in the deep while trying to clear the boundary. Two further wickets fell thanks to batters trying to hit the leather off the ball but failing to make connection (one stumping and one bowled).

ICC MEN'S T20 WORLD CUP
WEST INDIES & USA 2024
JUNE 1-29

While Jansen and Rabada shared the new-ball, it was Baartman, who made his international debut less than two weeks ago, who opened the floodgates. With no boundary balls on offer, Patthum Nissanka wanted to climb into Baartman's first ball, a fullish length wide delivery. The opener saw a boundary ball but the extra bounce meant he couldn't get the desired connection. Third man did the rest. Five balls later, the drop-in pitch had its first maiden of the day.

24/1 after six overs was, in hindsight, an okay start given the conditions. Itching to get a move on, Kamindu Mendis tried to flick Nortje over square leg. But he didn't get the necessary distance. This wicket signalled the start of an extraordinary period of play where every time a pacer or a spinner bowled, they picked up a wicket. For the record, they slumped from 1/31 to 6/44. Coupled with the movement on offer — something which the Lankan bowlers also found when they came out to defend the small total — they were also hurrying the batters. Dasun Shanaka and Angelo Matthews raised brief visions of a total in excess of 100 when they hit three sixes in a nine-ball period immediately after the sixth wicket but Shanaka showed the perils of misjudging a par score on the surface. With more than five overs still remaining, he cleared his front leg and swung for the hills. A pace on delivery at the stumps dislodged the furniture behind. That was the beginning of the end.

If the first match in the pop-up Stadium is anything to go by, how will the other teams react? Will the other surfaces on the square be of a similar nature (he four South African pacers, between them, returned joint figures of 7/52 in 15.1 overs)? The answers to these two questions will decide which team sets the momentum in the early part of the World Cup. Considering India play three of their four games here, they will know they have to find the right answers quickly.

Brief scores: Sri Lanka 77 in 19.1 ovs (Rabada 2/21, Maharaj 2/22, Nortje 4/7) lost to South Africa 80/4 in 16.2 ovs (deKock 20, Klaasen 19 n.o).

The talking points

While Scotland go up against defending champs England, Netherlands and Nepal fight it out. A look...

ARE ENGLAND TOP HEAVY?

Phil Salt, Jos Buttler, Will Jacks and Jonny Bairstow make the top four. As much as it is an advantage to have them do most of the work, it leaves their middle-order rather inconsistent.

England vs Scotland, Bridgetown, 8 PM
Netherlands vs Nepal, Dallas, 9 PM

MUNSEY AND BERRINGTON KEY

Scotland, meanwhile, will depend on George Munsey to do the work at the top while Richie Berrington carry the middle-order. Both of them will have to put on a show for them.

FAMILIAR FOES IN ACTION

While UAE won the recent tri-series, Nepal and Netherlands know everything about the other. They both would be itching to get off to a good start in a group featuring two of the so-called big three, England and Australia.

WIESE INSPIRES NAMIBIA TO THRILLING WIN

BRIDGETOWN: DAVID Wiese did the star turn with the bat to haul Namibia over the line in a Super Over against Namibia late on Sunday. It was a strange sort of game between two rivals in the second tier of the game. Chasing 110 on a very tricky strip in Bridgetown, Namibia looked well on their way when they needed run-a-ball 18 with seven wickets in the bank. That's when Mehran Khan dismissed JJ Smit to give the Asian a way through. They drove a car through the door despite Wiese's best efforts as they tied down Namibia with some very tight lines. Mehran Khan conceded only three in the final, including two wickets to take the game into a Super Over. However, they should have inarguably won the match off the last ball. With the keeper standing up to the stumps, Wiese took off for a bye. Because of Naseem Khushi's mistake, the match went into overtime. Oman could have given the ball back to the impressive Mehran but they opted to turn to Bilal Khan. Wiese hit boundaries off the first two balls. After that, Namibia pressed home the advantage.

Starc, Bumrah will be key pacers in this T20 World Cup, says McGrath

ASHOK VENUGOPAL @Chennai

FORMER Australian fast bowling legend Glenn McGrath believes that the T20 World Cup in the USA and West Indies will be exciting. He feels that fast bowlers will have a role to play and insisted in the shortest format, it is about adapting to the conditions quickly on the given day.

The 54-year-old, who is in the city to coach fast bowlers and aspiring Under-19 bowlers along with chief coach M Senthilnathan at the MRF Pace Foundation, picks India as one of the favourites while making it clear that his heart lies with Australia. "India is certainly one of the top teams to bag the crown. I am sure fast bowlers will be able to make an impact," said McGrath.

"The wickets may be different but as you saw in the IPL the likes of Jasprit Bumrah, Pat Cummins and Mitchell Starc bowled admirably on flat decks. So fast bowlers too can bowl well in the T20 World Cup provided that they make best use of the conditions and bowl well in the corridor. One should not always expect the wicket to be helpful. One needs to bowl in the right areas, right length and create pressure, and purchase wickets," the Australian added.

Bumrah's new-ball partner is something that the Indian think tank will be wondering about. In the warm up game against Bangladesh, Arshdeep Singh made a serious case for himself, swinging the new ball judiciously and foxing both Soumya Sarkar and Litton Das. It will come down to him or Mohammed Siraj in the final XI. "I think it also depends on how they're (left-right combo) bowling. They still have to bowl well. And in T20 you don't have much time to be ready. If you take an over or two to warm up (to get into the groove), the game's already gone,'' said McGrath.

While he expects Bumrah and Starc as stand outs for the tournament, McGrath felt a lot will depend on how their teammates bowl around them for India and Australia, respectively, to have a good WC. "You saw Starc in the IPL final get into groove which is good to see. Bumrah is then again quality. He seems to be the one bowler that batters find it hard even in T20s to get on top off. So, I think those two guys. If Australia are to win this World Cup, Starc has to bowl well and Bumrah for India. But then it's about who is going to take wickets around Bumrah and Starc," said McGrath.

Australia currently hold the ODI title and World Test championship. When asked if winning the T20 WC would make them the most dominant Australian men's team, McGrath had a clear answer: "In all three formats... End of my career, we didn't play much international T20s. Now it's one of the most played games. So, yeah, if they can come out and win this T20 World Cup there's an argument to say that they're one of the best teams, without a doubt."

Will not reapply for India coach role: Dravid

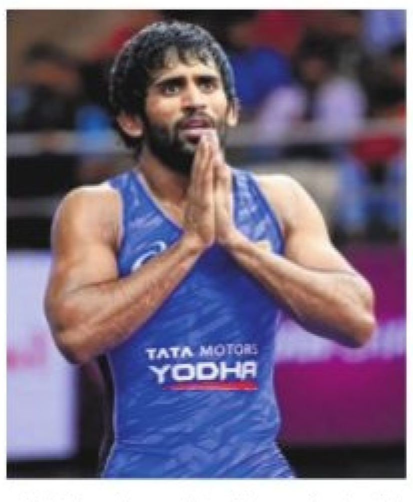
AGENCIES @ New York

RAHUL Dravid on Monday confirmed that the ongoing T20 World Cup will be his last tournament as head coach of the Indian cricket team.

Speaking to reporters ahead of India's World Cup opener against Ireland, Dravid said he enjoyed every bit of his coaching tenure. "Every tournament is important. Every game that I've coached for India has been very important for me. So for me this is no different just because it is going to be the last one that I'm in charge of," he said. "I love doing the job. I've really enjoyed coaching India and I think it's a truly special job to do. I enjoyed working with this team and it's a great bunch of boys to work with but yeah but just considering you know unfortunately the just the kind of schedules and where I find myself in the stage in my life I don't think I'll be able to reapply.

Bajrang's provisional suspension revoked

INDRANEEL DAS @Chennai



IN a fresh twist, Bajrang Punia's provisional suspension for allegedly refusing to submit a urine sample during the Olympic wrestling trials organised by the now-defunct ad hoc committee was revoked by the National Anti-Doping Agency's Anti-Doping Disciplinary Panel. What seems intriguing is that the NADA is yet to serve formal Notice of Charge. In an order dated 31/05/2024, the ADDP has asked NADA to revoke the provisional suspension until formal Notice is issued.

The hearing panel further explained that "without going into the merit of the submission/explanations/justifications given by the athlete for refusing to give sample and the counter submissions of the counsel appearing for NADA, the provisional suspension of the athlete is revoked till NADA decides to issue Notice of Charge formally charging the athlete for violation of Anti-Doping Rules, 2021."

The order further said that if "the NADA decided to issue Notice of Charge to the athlete, then the matter be expeditiously listed before the hearing panel for final hearing." It needs to be seen what NADA does next. Vidushpat Singhania, sports lawyer representing Bajrang, said that the wrestler is now free to train and compete in competitions. "We also hope that after seeing the explanation given during the hearing and the order, the NADA shall not press notice of charge," said Singhania.

However, the order listed out some interesting facts during the course of the hearing. Bajrang feared that he would have been "targeted for his active participation in the agitation led by co-wrestlers against their harassment". The wrestler also argued that the bronze medal match was still there to be played and the Dope Collection Officer/Chaperone had approached him during the event and should have waited for the event to get over. He also referenced past experiences when DCO had come to his house with expired testing kits.

However, the NADA counsel (Manpreet Kaur) said that the athlete did not participate in the bronze medal playoff due to an injury. "The explanation given by the athlete refusing to give a sample is unreasonable and can not be expected (sic: accepted)," was NADA's defense during the hearing. "The athlete was under the obligation as per the rules and regulations to give a sample for dope testing. His (Bajrang's) name was mentioned in the mission order... and the DCO/Chaperone was only doing their duties under the rules and regulations." The NADA also revealed that the DCO who had visited his house with expired kit had been suspended in December, two days after the incident.

Dutee's 4-year ban upheld

The NADA's ADAP upheld the four-year suspension of, national record holder in 100m, Dutee Chand by the Anti-Disciplinary Panel (ADDP) last year. The athlete had tested positive for selective androgen receptor modulators SARMS (ostarine, Ligandrol and andarine) and was provisionally banned in January 2023. Dutee had argued that the drugs entered the system through supplements. The ADAP had updated its list on the website.

Mbappe not in France squad for Paris Olympics

AGENCIES @ Paris

KYLIAN Mbappe will not play for France at the Paris Olympics after he was left out of Thierry Henry's provisional squad for the Games on Monday.

The World Cup winner, who is widely expected to join Real Madrid after leaving Paris Saint-Germain as a free agent, had stated his desire to play at the Games in his home nation. Henry and even French President Emmanuel Macron wanted Mbappe to be part of the men's Olympic team, but he was not included in the squad. PSG's Warren Zaire-Emery and Bradley Barcola were included, as well as Alexandre Lacazette.

Djokovic defies the odds, once again, to overcome Cerundolo

AFP @ Paris

SELECT RESULTS (4TH RD)

Men: Alex de Minaur bt Daniil Medvedev 4-6, 6-2, 6-1, 6-3; Novak Djokovic bt Francisco Cerundolo 6-1, 5-7, 3-6, 7-5, 6-3; Women: Aryna Sabalenka bt Emma Navarro 6-2, 6-3, Elena Rybakina bt Elina Svitolina 6-4, 6-3, Jasmine Paolini bt Elina Avanesyan 4-6, 6-0, 6-1.

NOVAK Djokovic and Francisco Cerundolo used the red dirt of Paris as their canvas to paint a masterpiece that will stand the test of time.

The Serb, who had prevailed in a gruelling five-setter against Lorenzo Musetti in the third round, had to use every ounce of his energy as he stumbled, fell down and dived to retrieve balls and answer the questions asked by the Atgentine 23rd seed. Cerundolo, fresher of the two, is a very capable clay-courter and played his part in an epic which ticked over the four hour at the beginning of the fifth set. The World No 1, who needed to win this match to retain control of the ranking at the conclusion of the French Open, as he so often does, outlasted his opponent in the endgame to win 6-1, 5-7, 3-6, 7-5, 6-3.

A forehand winner gave him the all important break in the eighth game of the fifth set. Moments later, he held serve to love to kickstart the celebrations.

Earlier, Aryna Sabalenka powered into a seventh consecutive Grand Slam quarter-final at the French Open on Monday with an impressive 6-2, 6-3 victory over American 22nd seed Emma Navarro. Two-time Australian Open champion Sabalenka belted 36 winners past an overmatched Navarro to avenge her defeat by the 23-year-old at Indian Wells in March. "It sounds crazy to me, to be honest, and I'm super happy that I was able to bring this consistency on the Grand Slams," said Sabalenka. "That's really amazing. I just, yeah, it's motivating me a lot to keep pushing myself a lot and to see where is the limit."

Sabalenka has made at least the semi-finals at her past six Grand Slams and is expected to be Iga Swiatek's toughest rival in the Pole's bid for a fourth French Open title. Her victory over Navarro means the top five women's seeds are through to the last eight at Roland Garros for only the third time in three decades. The other two occasions were in 1996 and 2013.

After a first week plagued by wet and muggy conditions, Sabalenka had no trouble adjusting as the sun reappeared at Roland Garros and did away with the need for the oft-used roof on Court Philippe Chatrier.

COCHLEAR IMPLANTS

TURNING DEAF EAR TO HEARING ISSUES CAN IMPAIR SPEECH ABILITY

RISHITA KHANNA @ Bengaluru

HEARING is a fundamental requirement for every individual as without this basic skill communication becomes difficult with others. The effects are profound in children, as it will affect their ability to speak apart from causing delay in language development. This impairment can also make the brain work harder to hear and fill in gaps, which can negatively impact other thinking and memory systems. It may also contribute to faster brain atrophy and dementia.

Hearing loss can affect everyone from infants to people in their 60s and 70s. This can be caused by many factors, but exposure to loud noise is the most common reason people have the condition. The ailment can't be reversed, but surgery to treat some issues can improve hearing.

There are three types of hearing loss

- Conductive hearing loss: Something keeps sound from passing through your outer ear (ear canal) or your middle ear
- Sensorineural hearing loss: This hearing loss happens when something damages your inner ear over time. Sudden sensorineural hearing loss (SSHL), or sudden deafness, may happen all at once or over a few days
- Mixed: This happens when you have issues in your middle or outer ear (conductive hearing loss) and your inner ear (sensorineural hearing loss) Damage to the inner ear or the nerve from the ear to the brain can cause sensorineural hearing loss, which is permanent. In adults, the causes include ageing and prolonged exposure to loud noise. In children and infants, the causes include congenital abnormalities or infections.

In this type of hearing loss, higher-pitched tones may sound muffled. It may become difficult to pick out words against a background noise. Treatment includes hearing aids and assistive devices. The impact of congenital hearing defects can affect overall development in children. "Without early detection, this condition can lead to mutism, where speech development is hindered due to the absence of auditory input. Until recently, children with such challenges relied on special schools and sign language for communication. However, with the introduction of cochlear implants, there is now hope for these children to develop speech and communication skills," said Dr Ajay Swaroop, chairman of board of management and senior consultant at Sir Ganga Ram Hospital, Delhi. Cochlear implantation is recommended for individuals of any age (after six months) who meet specific criteria, including children born with profound hearing loss unresponsive to hearing aids, adults not benefiting from hearing aids, and individuals with bilateral profound sudden hearing loss or recent onset unilateral profound hearing loss, he added.

Two-minute surgery

Cochlear implant surgery involves placing electrodes in the cochlea and an external speech processor, enabling sound perception. A receiver stimulator (internal component) is placed through a surgical procedure, with electrodes introduced into the cochlea's turns, says Dr Basharat Nadeem, consultant otologist and cochlear implant surgeon, Sparsh Hospital, Bengaluru. The external speech processor transmits sound to the internal component. "This painless cochlear implant surgery, which takes about 1-2 minutes, is performed with the utmost aseptic precautions and requires specialised training to master. However, the surgery itself constitutes only 25% of the entire process. The remaining 75% depends on how well the individual learns to understand the sounds they hear and develops verbal communication skills through auditory verbal therapy," Dr Nadeem said.

Before the surgery, a thorough evaluation is necessary, including a medical history review, physical exam, hearing tests, and scans to assess inner ear anatomy, says Dr Girish Anand, consultant, ENT Surgery, Aster CMI Hospital, Bengaluru. After these evaluations, it is recommended to consult with a surgeon to discuss the potential benefits, limitations, and risks of the surgery.

Post surgery, the recovery period includes a brief hospital stay followed by home care. "The external device is activated a few weeks after surgery, marking the beginning of rehabilitation. This phase is crucial for retraining the brain to interpret the new auditory signals from the implant and speech therapy and aural rehabilitation sessions play an essential role in this process," Dr Anand said.

He added that while cochlear implants can improve speech understanding and communication, leading to more independence and a better quality of life, it is essential to know that cochlear implants do not restore natural hearing, but instead help the brain interpret sound differently. Like any surgery, there are risks such as infection or facial nerve injury. Also, the device needs regular care and maintenance.

Cost and schemes available

Cochlear implant surgery is a significant investment and is subsidised by a few government institutions for BPL patients. Experts emphasise that early intervention is key to developing auditory skills, although it costs ₹10-15 lakh per ear in India.

THE FIRST INDIAN WOMAN TO BE SHORTLISTED FOR THE PRESTIGIOUS ARTHUR C. CLARKE AWARD, BENGALURU WRITER LAVANYA LAKSHMINARAYAN SHARES THE SURREAL FEELING OF MAKING THE CUT FOR HER DEBUT NOVEL, THE TEN PERCENT THIEF

'SCIENCE FICTION MIRRORS CONTEMPORARY REALITY'

DESE GOWDA

THE relentless pursuit of development and continuous growth has taken a heavy toll on quaint old Bangalore. The city's once-abundant tree cover has dwindled alarmingly. Its lakes, a matter of pride in the past, have become polluted cesspools, their waters choked with sewage and industrial waste. The city's infrastructure is struggling to keep pace with its rapid growth, leading to notorious traffic jams, water shortage, and air pollution. At this pace, Bengaluru seems to be staring at a dystopian future where the quality of life continues to deteriorate, and its social fabric under increasing strain as economic disparities widen.

Writer and game designer Lavanya Lakshminarayan's debut novel, The Ten Percent Thief (Rebellion; ₹791), offers a striking vision of this potential future. Set in a reimagined Bengaluru, called Apex City, the novel explores themes of meritocracy, technological control, and social inequality. The book's portrayal of these issues recently earned it a shortlist nomination for the prestigious Arthur C. Clarke Award.

Reflecting on the nomination, Lakshminarayan says, "I was completely taken aback. It was an unexpected, wonderful surprise because it's such an enormous honour. The feeling was surreal. To be the first Indian woman, and the second Indian ever after Amitav Ghosh, to be considered for this award is tremendous." The winner of the award will be announced on July 24.

In The Ten Percent Thief, Lakshminarayan not only envisions a future shaped by relentless progress but also invites readers to question the current trajectory of urban development and its impact on society. "Science fiction mirrors contemporary reality, allowing us to comment on society's current happenings, power structures, and human relationships. By placing science fiction in an imagined setting, even if it's 100 years in the future, we create a disconnect from our known reality and place people in unfamiliar situations to explore what it means to be human. This allows us to reflect our contemporary values and power structures in an alternative dimension without the burden of historical context, getting to the heart of humanity itself," she says.

The Ten Percent Thief delves into the consequences of a society where worth is determined by productivity and social metrics. Society is divided into two sections: Virtuals and Analogs. The former enjoy privileges like advanced technology and climate-controlled environments, while the latter survive in harsh, resource-scarce conditions. The novel has received acclaim for its sharp social commentary and vivid world-building.

By setting her story in a future version of Bengaluru, she explores the stark divisions in society and the consequences of a productivity-obsessed culture. "Bengaluru is a younger city in terms of being an economic hub compared to Delhi and Mumbai, which have been economic centres for much longer. While Bengaluru hasn't reached that tipping point yet, except perhaps in terms of traffic, one thing is critical: the solutions for framing the future city must be widely accessible, not reserved for the elite or socially privileged," she says, adding, "One of the good things about Bengaluru, despite my criticisms, is that we still have parks, open spaces, and lakes. These spaces should be open and accessible. Some parks, like Cubbon Park and Lal Bagh, are still common spaces not restricted by privilege, though you do need the privilege to reach them. This culture needs to be more widespread across all public spaces. More public spaces encouraging people to sit around, preferably with greenery, is definitely doable with a bit of reprioritisation."

> Lavanya Lakshminarayan , writer-game designer

At its core, The Ten Percent Thief is a call to question societal norms. "I want readers to question the dominant assumptions they operate under. There are many ingrained in society and civilisation in this book. Question the argument of merit and the value of being hyper-productive. What is it really returning to you? From a young age, we're trained to work hard for a good school, college, job, and eventually a bigger house. Just question how committed you are to this cycle," she says, adding, "Question your assumptions about the people around you. Question those class and caste assumptions, because we take many things for granted without examining our identity and its intersections. The book also has a lot of these properties in it, so question the echo chambers you're in and the information you receive. There are dominant narratives and suppressed ones; we need to be open to hearing all of them. Just question your assumptions of reality because it's a very nice little box you're in until you see what lies beyond."

This 'thrilling' board game that simulates real-world politics, has gained popularity this election year with even the likes of well-known comedians Kunal Kamra and Rohan Joshi giving it a shout-out

Playing Politics

DESE GOWDA

AS the country awaits the all-important results of the 18th Lok Sabha election today, which will set the tone for the nation's governance for the next five years, there is palpable tension in the air. Amidst the frenzy of exit polls and the hype surrounding counting day, it's easy to feel overwhelmed by the uncertainty. If you're looking to take your mind off the real-world frenzy and engage in a positive exploration of the political process, SHASN(₹4,199), a 'thriller' of a board game that transports players into the tumultuous world of electioneering, could be an option.

A Political Escape

"The game immerses players in the daily life of a politician during an election campaign. Players answer policy questions, with each question offering two possible answers. The choices players make shape their political ideologies or manifestos, which include four distinct types: Capitalist, Idealist, Supremo, and Showstopper. The resources in the game – funds, trust, clout, and media – are crucial. Players use these resources to sway voters, and the player with the majority of voters at the end of the game wins," explains Zain Memon, the Goa-based creator of SHASN. "The academic foundation underpins the game, but the gameplay experience is akin to being a character in a political thriller like House of Cards or Game of Thrones. It's a visceral, aggressive pursuit of power, where every turn involves influencing voters, capturing majorities, and engaging in conspiracies and alliances. The game is designed to be an action-packed, emotional experience, not just a meditative academic one."

SHASN, meaning governance, is based on the learnings of Memon and the team behind the critically-acclaimed documentary An Insignificant Man, which chronicled the rise of a third front during the 2015 Delhi elections. The documentary's success inspired Memon to create a more interactive experience that allows players to experience the nuances and pressures of political decisions firsthand. Originally launched in 2019, the game has found popularity across the world, but more so in Bengaluru, with regular play nights organised by various pubs and restaurants in the city. Furthermore, social media personalities like Rohan Joshi, and Kunal Kamra, have also shared their love for the game. "Play sessions are regularly organised by the community itself, with turnouts numbering upto 200. The word-of-mouth effect has been substantial."

Realpolitik

The game's structure reflects an abstraction of the first-past-the-post system, emphasising the dynamics of majoritarian politics. "Regardless of the election outcome, a significant portion of the population may feel unrepresented, as the winning party or coalition will likely secure no more than 30-40 per cent of the vote share. SHASN provides a platform for discussing policy issues constructively, regardless of political affiliation," Memon says, adding, "It fosters healthy political conversations, even among people with differing views, making these discussions engaging and less daunting. This is crucial for understanding and improving the political system."

From opting to work from home to deferring meetings, B'lureans are awaiting the outcome of the Lok Sabha elections with nervous excitement

Future Tense!

MONIKA MONALISA

IT'S T minus zero to the Lok Sabha results and people are anything but calm. The questions keeping them concerned are many: Will there be a new government or will the existing one continue in power? What are the new policies that will be introduced? How are the results going to affect the stock market? The questions are endless. To keep a close watch on the election results, many are opting for work from home or keeping their day low-key to see how the results pan out.

"I have been following the exit polls and feel like Modi could be back in power. Out of the leaders we have, he has dared to take some risky steps; some have paid off, and some have backfired, but at least there was some effort put in. It is going to be quite interesting to see the development," says business consultant Biplab Mohapatra, who is among those who have opted to work from home to follow the results.

Shilpa Mishra, development sector professional, does not want to 'miss the buzz' either. "Lok Sabha election results or an India vs Pakistan cricket match feel the same. Following up on who is leading and who is trailing is a ritual at home. It will be interesting to see if Congress breaks that jinx and who will be the next PM. So it's a mixed emotion," says Mishra.

Rohith Sarcar, a photographer by profession, has postponed all his meetings by a day. An anxious Sarcar also has his eye on the stock market. "The results will directly affect my investments. The markets have been fluctuating since Monday. If there is a new party coming to power with new policies, then I am concerned about losing money," says an anxious Sarcar, who is planning to follow some of his like-minded friends to follow the results.

Satish Das, who also likes to trade, is following the results for personal reasons. "By 12 noon, the trend will be clear and stock markets will start to reflect the results. Modi 3.0 term is expected to be the term of game-changing reforms. So, the next 100 days are going to be interesting once the Modi 3.0 government takes charge. There is very little probability of NDA not getting majority but the market has not factored this," says Das.

I fear taking the wrong decision and feel constantly overwhelmed. I quit my job, and can no longer tell if I enjoy something or not. Therapy hasn't helped. How do I tackle this?

You mention that you quit your job because of this and now worry if it was the right decision. Remember, decisions are made on the basis of information available to us, at that point in time. We can never have all the information we require to make a perfect decision. Instead, we choose the best options, based on the circumstances existing at that moment. There's no such thing as a 'wrong decision' because every decision takes us on a different path.

ASK AN XPERT

Comparing your current path to the one you did not take is pointless. You can't move forward if you keep looking in the rear-view mirror. There simply is no 'perfect path', and any choice comes with its own challenges. Consider finding a different therapist. Journal your thoughts every day. When we write, our tangled thoughts unravel, giving us a clear sense of direction.

ANANDA BALASANA BOLSTER UNDER SACRUM

(HAPPY BABY POSE BOLSTER UNDER SACRUM)

This is a supported and elevated variation of Ananda Balasana (Happy Baby Pose). It is a relaxed and supine variation of squat, offering a great alternative for students who cannot squat while bearing weight on their knees. This Hand-To-Feet pose increases the flow of blood towards the head and heart, stimulating Parasympathetic Nervous System.

STEPS

- Keep a bolster nearby and lie on your back in Constructive Rest Pose with your knees bent and feet flat.
- Ensure the legs are hip-width apart, hands by the side and chin tucked in. Stretch the neck, connect with your breath.
- Place the bolster under your sacrum, adjust it to provide support.
- Inhale, bring the knees to the chest. Grab the inner edges of your feet with your hands from the inside of your shin or calf. Keep the hands straight.
- Exhale, widen your legs and allow thighs to fall alongside your torso in Ananda Balasana. Bring your thighs parallel to the ground and your lower leg/shin perpendicular.
- Stay here for about six breaths. With every breath, pull your knees towards the floor. Slowly, release the pose and come back to the original pose. Gently remove the bolster to one side.
- Finally, straighten out the legs in Savasana and relax.

BENEFITS

- Helps manage symptoms of anorectal diseases like mild piles or fissure (with clinical analysis).
- Students can stay longer with full body awareness.
- Bolster acts as a great support to make the pose accessible and more manageable for beginners.
- Helps release lower back tension.
- Helps increase blood flow towards the heart and brain, soothes the senses, boosts mood, and calms the mind.
- Alleviates symptoms related to mild depression, stress, and anxiety.
- Alleviates strain on the lumbar spine and lower back pain, countering the effects of poor posture.
- Creates space for the lower vertebrae to move quickly, improving range of motion in the lower back.
- Improves overall digestion and absorption of nutrients.
- Stimulates the Sacral and Root Chakras.
- Promotes deep relaxation, easing tension and relieving pain in the hips and back.
- Reduces stress, improves digestion, and increases overall lung capacity.
- Helps to open the chest and promotes better sleep.
- Relieves pressure on the sciatic nerve.

LIMITATIONS

- Students with any injuries to the hip, groin, knee, ankle or abdomen, suffering from osteoporosis or low bone density, breathing problem, pregnant women during their third trimester, avoid this pose.
- Pregnant women and seniors should practise with caution.
- Seniors can practise with wall support or props like yoga straps.

Carnatic vocalist Varijashree Venugopal's latest album Vari is in collaboration with Grammy Award-winning American composer, Michael League

MONIKA MONALISA

IT was 'only seven years in waiting' for Carnatic singer Varijashree Venugopal before coming up with the full-length original album Vari. But the wait has been worth it. The album, in collaboration with composer Michael League of the five-time Grammy award-winning jazz collective Snarky Puppy, was recently launched.

The name of the album Vari can be mistaken to be the shortened version of her name but the singer clarifies that it's from the Sanskrit word meaning water. "In this context, this name means flow, like the artistic creative flow. That's pretty much what every artiste would like to retain," she explains. Being trained in Carnatic music, Venugopal says the album is a way for her to connect with her roots.

Though the album has different musical aesthetics, for the singer, it is as Indian as it can get. "80 per cent of all the instruments we recorded with are from India...the shehnai, veena, nadaswaram, folk percussions, we even had 40 dolu players," she says.

In her collaboration with League, the singer feels fortunate to have worked with someone who has a diverse musical background. "I really like what he had created with Snarky Puppy and his international ensemble Bokante. I have been a fan of the music that they have been making, and what he has been creating with the rest of the projects there. He comes from the other end of the spectrum. It all comes from a mental space of wanting to learn something new and discovering possibilities within all of us," she explains, adding, "It was a joy finding that space with Michael; first of all, he is a great friend, and we've shared a lot of music, I admire all that he does."

Not just the music, the video also had Venugopal trying out different activities. "I had to learn swimming for one of the songs since I had to be underwater and hold my breath. It was quite thrilling," says Venugopal, whose last performance of the album was at Nita Mukesh Ambani Cultural Centre in Mumbai.

The big day is today. It is our day. You may not read this column because all of us will be glued to election results and who is going to walk the ramp for the 1.44 billion Indians. The grand finale; of seven-phase polling for the 543 Lok Sabha constituencies spanning across 28 states and 8 union territories that began on April 19 and concluded on June 1, is unfolding in the country and being watched the world over. One of the two camps will win and after the frenzied and deafening celebrations the dust will not settle. What have we learnt from these elections? Anything to take home? Anything that we would have made as a memorable quote and scribbled in our diary or notebook?

The Parliament elections were cacophonic as they are meant to be. There was no symphony, just noise and deafening sloganeering. This was the grandest opportunity for our political representatives to say something that would stay with us, calm our frayed nerves and give us some hope of grandeur, of thought, dialogue, vision and memory. We have had almost all of them vowing to protect the Constitution but hardly anyone, who could raise the bar on thought, or challenge us to think beyond the stereotype. India is not a monolith. It is a rich cohesion of diversity, differences and opinions. We have coexisted with all our differences and diversity. Why is there no new thought that makes us sit up, mull over it and revisit it whenever there is a doubt? Why do we quote from legacy and bygone thought leaders? Unfortunately, all we got to hear through the election campaigning were political gimmicks; them breathing down our necks to tell us how fortunate we are to get their grace in terms of guarantees. Is this the grand vision of this grand country? They tell us that sections of society need their benevolence and charity. For how long? Is there a time frame by which everyone will be on their own without the crutches? The thought itself, of us all at various socio-economic levels walking the path on our own is so empowering, enduring and endearing.

With caste lines deeply entrenched in our psyche, the ongoing effort is to create a race of alms, not livelihood seekers. The vision for implementing universal education begs for an adequate number of government schools, teachers and infrastructure across the length and breadth of India. It's ironic to see paintings and pictures of Ambedkar, Gandhi and incumbent heads of state in schools staring at dirty, empty classrooms and children struggling with their reality of abject poverty and violence at home.

If the government does not have resources to give employment, then teach our young people skills at the school level. They will find dignity in labour and livelihood. If there is a commitment to universal health, clean up the mess in government hospitals. Make government schools and hospitals worthy of people's trust. Rote education is meaningless. Teach children how to fend for their lives through skill and life skill training. They will not ask the government for doles. The idea of startups is not new. Go to the back lanes of all your upscale shopping areas and you will see startups doing thriving business. What they lack is scale, certification and support. The idea of 'political' or 'vote bank' charity defeats equitable progress and honourable living and robs the young of aspiration. If there is no aspiration there will be no achievement. There will be no grand vision of this supremely grand country of ours. India is not a backstage player on the global map. Indians need to be comfortable with being Indian. The messaging has to come from within each of us. Elections are over and we have elected us, we the people of India.

SHIVAMMA IS A COMMERCIAL FILM THAT IS ENTERTAINING AND ALSO MESSAGE-ORIENTED: RISHAB SHETTY

The Jaishankar Aryar directorial is all set to hit the big screens on June 14, after making its rounds in the festival circuits

A SHARADHAA

SHIVAMMA, directed by Jaishankar Aryar and produced by Rishab Shetty's production house, has made its mark by being showcased at various film festivals worldwide, garnering accolades and awards at prestigious events like the Busan International Film Festival 2022, Three Continents Festival 2022, and Fajr International Film Festival. Screened at MAMI last October, it is all set to hit the big screens on June 14. An announcement of the release date was made by Rishab Shetty himself, who unveiled the film's trailer in the presence of the team and director Jaishankar Aryar.

Shivamma follows the journey of a government school chef named Shivamma, who harbours aspirations of launching a network marketing venture to provide for her family. As an enthusiastic sales representative for an energy drink brand, Shivamma finds solace and purpose in multilevel marketing strategies. Set in a modest town on the outskirts of a city, Shivamma navigates her daily life, caring for her bedridden husband, preparing for her daughter's impending marriage, and handling her unruly son. Despite her lack of formal education, Shivamma's dedication to her work is a beacon of hope and determination in the face of financial adversity. As the matriarch of a struggling household, she explores unconventional avenues to secure her family's livelihood.

Shivamma was entirely filmed in Yarehanchinala village in the Kuknur taluk of Koppal district, with all the actors being debutants from the same town. Rishab Shetty, speaking at the trailer launch event, mentioned, "I would like to credit director Jaishankar Aryar, whom I spotted at the short film festival, where I went as a jury member. I was attracted to his first short film, which won an award and decided to collaborate with him. He came up to me with Shivamma with the thought of putting together non-actors, and that's how the film happened," Rishab Shetty said.

According to the producer and filmmaker, Shivamma is a commercial film. "It is special to introduce a debutant who plays Shivamma as the protagonist of our film, and I am glad to bring this to theatres," Rishab stated, adding, "Let alone Pan-India films, which are done on a big scale, even movies like Shivamma can entertain the audience. In addition to being an entertainer, this film will also be message-oriented. I could gauge the audience for Shivamma, which received a good response at the Bengaluru International Film Festival," said Rishab, who concluded, "The film, distributed by KRG Studios, will be released in a minimum number of theatres in Bengaluru and across North Karnataka as well."

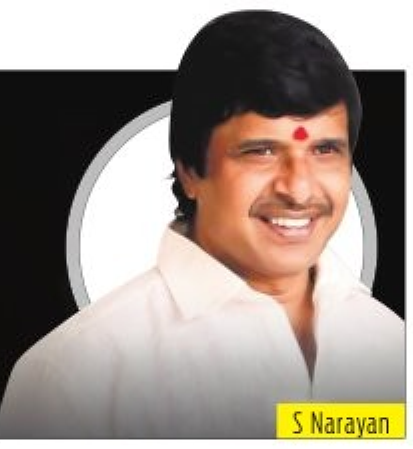
Vijay Kumar

Vijay Kumar to play a detective in director S Narayan's next



S Narayan

This untitled project which is currently on floors, stars Shreyas Manju and Brinda Acharya in lead roles

CE FEATURES

SHREYAS Manju's upcoming film, helmed by veteran director S Narayan, is currently on floors. The film's cast has now become star-studded with Vijay Kumar joining the ensemble. Narayan and Vijay have previously collaborated on the blockbuster film Chanda (2007) and later teamed up again for Daksha (2015). This yet-to-be-titled film will be their third outing, and Shreyas will share space with Vijay for the first time. Director Narayan, who will resume shooting from today, exclusively revealed Vijay Kumar's role to us.

The Salaga actor will be portraying a detective in the film; his character being pivotal in elevating the story's impact. Narayan, who is behind the film's story, screenplay, and dialogues, promises a thought-provoking narrative with relatable themes set against a contemporary backdrop. The story aims to resonate with both parents and children.

With Brinda Acharya (Kosalya Supraja Rama) playing the female lead, this travel-based love story will be shot in places like Chickmagalur, Sakaleshpur, Virajpete, Kannur, Mysuru, Bengaluru, Belagavi, and Goa, among other locations. The film, produced by Thayagaraj under the Esha Productions banner, and co-produced by Manju and Ramesh Yadav, has music composed by Jassie Gift. PKH Dass is handling cinematography, and Shivaprasad Yadav is in charge of editing. The cast also includes Tara Anuradha, Sharath Lohitashwa, Sadhu Kokila, Pramod Shetty, Kalyani, Rangayana Raghu, Giri, Pavagada Manju, Jayaram, Sujay Shastry, and others.

Vijay is currently waiting for the release of Bheema, his sophomore project as a director, which is now ready to hit theatres. A probable release date will be announced soon after the election results. The actor is also part of Jadeshaa K Hampi's upcoming directorial, tentatively titled VK-29. The project is currently in production and also stars Raj B Shetty and Rachita Ram.

On the other hand, Shreyas is awaiting the release of Vishnu Priya. He has also signed up for another project titled Dildaar.

Just as I enjoy direction, I find interest in writing lyrics: Harshapriya

Harshapriya

CE FEATURES

HEJJARU, which marks the directorial debut of Harshapriya, introduces the unique concept of parallel life, showcasing similar incidents in the lives of two different people in two different timelines. The film, starring Bhagat Alva and Shwetha D'Souza, among others, features Gopalkrishna Deshpande in the lead role. According to Harshapriya, Deshpande's performance will be a major highlight, similar to what Rangayana Raghu achieved in Shakhahaari. Harshapriya also revealed that Hejjaru marks the comeback of actor Naveen Krishna, who will be seen in a negative role. "I aimed for a striking debut, hence I chose the unique concept of parallel life, which has turned out to be quite interesting. Additionally, with Gopal Krishna Deshpande in an unprecedented role and Naveen as the antagonist, they will surely be a surprise package."

The film also stars Aruna Balraj and Muniraju in pivotal roles.

Meanwhile, Hejjaru is also making waves with its concept-based music album. The debut single Enne Sikthu Mall Ninage has already topped the charts, while the second song, a romantic number titled Ivanyaaro, connects with the emotions of a college girl experiencing love for the first time, which has struck a chord with the youth. "The entire album will connect with audiences of all kinds and age groups," says Harshapriya, who hails from a teleserial background. The songs, composed by Poornachandra Tejeswi with vocals by Shweta Prabhu, have been penned by Harshapriya himself. "Just as I enjoy directing, I am keen on writing lyrics, and I have written all four songs for Hejjaru," he adds.

The film produced by KS Ramji's Gagana Enterprises is gearing up to unveil the teaser soon, with a tentative release date set for the first week of July.

'Making every episode of Gullak was like going to therapy'

SHREYAS PANDEY

THERE is some mirth to revel in the mundane and focus on little things. It can be poetic and sublime. However, in Sony LIV's Gullak, mundane finds a different meaning, as it focuses on the chaotic absurdities of daily life. There is an anxious mother who is on the verge of hysteria because her teenage kids can't stop brawling over who gets possession of the TV remote. There is a father who is feared by the kids, but at the same time knows better than to argue with his wife. Connecting them through a stream of spicy gossip is a sarcastic lady in the neighbourhood, loved by none, hated by many. The show brings such characters to the forefront as it returns with the fourth season on June 7. For director Shreyansh Pandey, making the show is like reliving his childhood. "Most of the stories in Gullak are inspired by my own life. That way, making every episode of the show is like going to therapy for me," he says. Shreyansh reveals that he speaks to his family about certain moments from the past in order to come up with stories. Moreover, he gets to open up with his creative team about everything during the brainstorming sessions. "After this, others start sharing their own stories as well which ultimately leads to an enriching experience."

Gullak had its humble beginnings in 2018 when the development started with a handful of people. "The idea was to make a show about a family of four and how their daily struggles come in the way of their ambitions. We were initially planning it for the YouTube channel but the process of making it finally led us to Sony LIV," says the director. The first season introduced us to the characters and their world where a Gullak (Piggy Bank) narrates these stories of everyday life. Its triumph lies in revelling in smaller conflicts among the family and how all troubles are resolved in the end with an ice cream treat. It is shot mostly in a dilapidated house in Delhi, taking place during the course of a summer. Five years on, season 4 of the show brings some changes to the overall look and feel. "We will get to see winter for the first time," says Shreyansh. "Due to this, the costumes have changed, and the setting is different."

He is directing the show for the first time, serving as the creator for earlier seasons. Shreyansh believes that the crux of comedy lies in the situations in which characters are stuck. "It's not just about giving them punchlines. Good comedy involves characters reacting to unusual circumstances," he says. He also feels that it is impossible to do comedy without improvising on the set. "Improvising opens up many things that can never be written on paper," he says as he mentions a scene in the trailer where the mother, played by Geetanjali Kulkarni and father, played by Jameel Khan, are talking to each other as they suddenly break into a dance. Shreyansh reveals that this was not written in the script and was inspired by a similar moment he saw in his own house. "Many times, I have delayed saying cut during a scene because of what the actors chose to do with it," he says. However, he also believes that the confidence to improvise comes from a well-written script. "It is important to keep certain boundaries while improvising and that comes from the script."

Jameel Khan finds comedy to be the most difficult genre to work in, although he also feels it is the most rewarding. Known for playing pivotal roles in films like Gangs of Wasseypur (2012) and Baby (2015), Jameel says that comedy is not an individual effort. "Impeccable comic timing happens through a rigorous collaboration among all of us," he feels. Vaibhav Raj Anand, who plays the elder son Annu, agrees with Jameel. "All the conversations in Gullak run on a tempo and if someone falls flat, the entire scene is ruined. That's why we all need to look after each other," he says.
